

VICTORY FOR HARRY K. THAW

TELLS OF MEXICO AND ITS TROUBLES

Mr. Guerre of Ayer Co. Says Mexicans Hate Americans — Honor Japs — Business Paralyzed

Mr. Albert D. Guerre, the traveling agent for the J. C. Ayer company in Central and South American countries is stepping at the American house and a more interesting talker it would be difficult to find.

He has just returned from Mexico and he is thoroughly informed upon every phase of the situation in that unhappy country at the present time. In conversation with a representative of The Sun he explained many points in regard to the situation that may be interesting if not instructive to Lowell readers.

"What is the general feeling towards Americans in Mexico?" queried The Sun man.

"It is strongly anti-American."

"Why anti-American?"

"Because the United States has not recognized the present Huerta government and because of a widely prevalent feeling of hostility."

AUTO DRIVER HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

John T. Locke Held in $1,000
Bail Pending Inquest Into Death of Boy Struck by Automobile

John T. Locke was charged with manslaughter by the police today as a result of his running over the Higgins boy with an automobile yesterday on Bridge street. The boy died from the effects of his injuries. Locke was held in $1,000 bail until the result of the inquest is made known.

Milk Dealer Fined

Walter N. Andrews, a milk dealer, was arraigned in police court today on a complaint charging him with selling milk below the standard required by law.

Mr. Andrews collects milk from various producers and one of his collections is made from a dairy in Hudson, New Hampshire. All of this various collections are then mixed together and then distributed to his customers.

The samples which Milk Inspector Master took from Mr. Andrews were taken before the milk was mixed and were from the supply of the New Hampshire producers. These samples are what the conviction was based upon.

Samples taken from the milk after it had been mixed disclosed the fact that mixture with the other collections had raised it nearly to standard. In fact it was proved beyond a doubt that the entire trouble lay with the milk producer in Hudson. However, all that the defendant could do was pay his fine and drop the man from his list who had gotten him into the trouble. He was fined $100 on the two counts.

Charged With Larceny

John Tighe was arraigned in police court this morning on the charge of stealing $28.59 from the treasury of the United Order of Pilgrim Fathers.

John Tighe was the complainant named in the warrant. As he had no counsel his case was continued until September 25th. His bail was fixed at $500.

Leather and Shave

Jeremiah Cronin pleaded not guilty to the larceny of a shaving brush from one of the local stores. The clerk who was on the counter at the time testified that he saw the defendant take the brush and then make for the door.

Inspector Walsh was right on the job himself being put through the third degree before he had an opportunity to frame up a good story.

Inspector Walsh testified that the defendant informed him that he entered the store to purchase a knife, but as Cronin had no money when searched this story savored strongly of a Friday tale. Judge Enright found him guilty, and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

Saddle Sent to Jail

Officer Joe Conzidine picked up Saddle Reay in a drunken condition and started to take her to the patrol box. The Reay woman made a bad scene on the way and drew a large crowd of spectators by her profane and abusive language. She went to the station, nevertheless, and this morning was sentenced to jail for two months.

Indian Herb Doctor

Fred Larocoy, the Indian herb doctor, was again in police court today for over indulgence in fire-water. The long haired defendant had never a word to say while the warrant was being read to him by Clerk Savage. He escaped this time with a fine of $25. Mary O'Rourke was sent to jail for three months for drunkenness. Two first offenders for Intemperance were fined the customary $2.

Cut Out Mummer

The police drew another offender into their toils against the city ordinance regulating automobile driving in the person of William S. Fraser of Lynn. The charge against Fraser was that he was cutting out his mummer, which by the way, creates a terrible racket, and the defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $5.

Flagman Held

C. H. Murray of Bar Harbor Express Charged With Manslaughter

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 16.—C. H. Murray, flagman of the Bar Harbor express on the New Haven road, which was in the wreck at North Haven on Sept. 2, was arrested today on a bench warrant, issued yesterday, charging manslaughter. Murray was taken on the street by a deputy sheriff and afterward accompanied by counsel and a bandman went to the office of the clerk of the superior court, where he furnished a bond of $500 for appearance at the October term of the superior court.

A warrant is out for Conductor Brice Adams of the Bar Harbor express, but as he is visiting in Maine it will not be served until he returns tomorrow.

These warrants with the one to which Engineer Miller of the White Mountain express, the colliding train, pleaded not guilty yesterday were granted in accord with the finding of Coroner Mix last night.

HEARING ON WRIT WAS SUSPENDED

Jerome Tried to Block Postponement
—Thaw Smiled When Judge Announced Suspension

LITTLETON, N. H., Sept. 16.—Harry Kendall Thaw, fugitive from Matteawan, won a victory in the United States district court here today when Judge Aldrich indefinitely suspended a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by the Thaw lawyers. This means that Thaw will have a federal writ to check his immediate return to New York state in the event Governor Folger orders his extradition after the hearing to be held at Concord.

William Travers Jerome, especially deputized to bring about Thaw's return to the asylum, tried to block the postponement on the ground that the writ had been obtained as a matter of expediency. He produced an affidavit of a newspaper man quoting Thaw's counsel as saying this, but he was unwilling to press the matter after Geo. Morris, a counsel for the prisoner, had assured the court that the application for the writ had been entirely regular.

"Do you wish to press the question of bad faith?" asked Judge Aldrich of Jerome, after Morris had finished.

"No," said Jerome; "not in view of what Mr. Morris has said. We accept his word."

"What do you propose to do, then?" insisted the judge.

Jerome hesitated.

"The immediate question," continued the court, "is whether the proceeding shall go on or be suspended. It is the judgment of the court that a suspension would not menace the interests of either side and in view of the fact that the governor hesitates to proceed with the extradition hearing until the status of this matter is assured I suspend it. It is not adjourned, but suspended, and I suggest that either side notify me within six days when they are prepared to go on with it."

Thaw Smiles

Thaw, smiling, sat with his eyes riveted on the judge. His lawyers were grinning. Thaw was remanded back to the joint custody of Sheriff Drew of Coos county, who arrested him after his recent deportation from Canada, and United States Marshal Nute.

Counsel then announced they had heard the extradition hearing might not be held until Friday and both sides went into conference to decide where to hold the fugitive meanwhile.

In an open discussion with Mr. Jerome after announcing the dismissal of the hearing Judge Aldrich said search of the statutes had failed to reveal to him any law under which a man in Thaw's position, a lunatic charged with a crime could be extradited.

Crowds packing Main street cheered wildly for Thaw as he was driven to a hotel for dinner.

Jerome objected to the extradition hearing going on next Friday and after Thaw's counsel had communicated with the governor by telephone Tuesday, Sept. 23, was agreed upon.

SIDEWALK WORK IN GORHAM STREET

Objected to in Letter to Municipal Council—Mayor Wants a Public Parking Place for Autos

A large amount of business was brought before the municipal council at the meeting held this morning. The session was called to order a few minutes after 11 o'clock with Commissioner Cummings absent.

A hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for permission to erect two poles in Loring street brought forth a great deal of remonstrance. Mr. Charles A. Wotton appeared representing several residents who objected to the granting of the petition. Letters were read from Clementine H. Bowers, Parker Young, 77 Loring street, who said that the poles would damage his property; Mrs. David Sullivan, 31 Loring street, Carrie Bailey, 55 Loring street, Mrs. Olive Lang, of Pittsfield, Me., a lot owner in the vicinity.

Mr. Wotton arose to say that he could see no need of the poles, particularly as the residents had allowed the company the use of their buildings in writing. He thought that all the houses in the vicinity were wired. Dr. Field spoke in the same strain.

Mr. George H. Taylor, representing C. I. Hood, owner of the building at the corner of Loring and Westford streets, said that it would destroy the beauty of the street. Mr. Taylor said that the wires could be run over the houses, or through the basements, but that he protested the erection of poles.

Mr. Eugene Crane appeared representing Mrs. Bridget Crane, who was one of the objectors.

The petitioners were given leave to withdraw. Mrs. Belle Walker objected to the granting of the petition of the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp. to erect poles for joint use in Boylston street and the North Billerica road. The petition was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

There was no objection brought forth on the hearing on the petition of the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. to erect 30 poles in rebuilding their line in Boylston street; referred.

In the hearing on the petition of the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. to be permitted to erect two poles on West Sixth street between Columbus avenue and 96 West Sixth street, Mrs. Puffer objected. Referred.

The same company petitioned permission to erect 3 poles on Reed street and two on Chelmsford street. Neither was objected to; both referred.

Contractors Scored

A letter containing a protest against the manner in which the work of laying the granite sidewalk in Gorham street was done was read by Mayor O'Donnell as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 11, 1913.

To the Mayor and the Municipal Council:

Gentlemen: As a citizen and taxpayer and as one interested in the bidding for the contract of laying a granite sidewalk on Gorham street and Union street, I desire to call your attention to the manner in which this work has been done, and to state to you as public officials that the interests of the city have not been properly protected.

In justice to the other contractors who submitted bids in good faith in accordance with specifications it is very unjust that the successful bidder should be permitted to do the work in the manner in which this work has been performed to the disappointment of the abutting property owners and all others who have had occasion to note the progress of the work.

A protest against payment of the contract price until the municipal council shall grant a public hearing to all those who may wish to show cause why the contract price should not be paid.

Very truly yours,
Henry J. O'Donnell.

FOUR SUICIDES IN SCHMIDT'S FAMILY

Alleged Murderer Used Forged
Certificates in Boyhood Days—
Is Charged With Counterfeiting

ASCHAFFENBURG, Germany, Sept. 16.—The parents of Johannes Schmidt, the self-confessed murderer, of Anna Ammuller, say their son is hereditarily abnormal. Several members of the family are confined in asylums for the demented and there have been four suicides in the family within the past five years.

The letters sent home by Schmidt are said by his relatives to be written in a confused and hazy style.

Local physicians consider that the murderer's perverted instincts were accentuated by forced study.

It is known that he resorted to forged certificates even during his boyhood and by their means was enabled to enter the classical high school at Mainz, where he was educated. He was arrested, charged with the offense, but was released by the court as weak-minded and irresponsible.

Charge of Counterfeiting

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Stripping from New York's river murder its mystery, the police, based today a nest of crime, feathered their claim by Hans Schmidt, the confessed slayer of Anna Ammuller, and Dr. Ernest A. Muret, dentist by day, alleged counterfeiter by night.

Muret is under arrest on a technical charge of having in his possession a pistol. He was arrested early today after detectives ransacking Schmidt's apartments had uncovered evidence to show that Schmidt was a counterfeiter.

This evidence led them to a flat rented by a man under the name of George Miller, in which were found all essentials to the counterfeiters' craft. The janitress of the building, brought face to face with Muret, greeted him as Miller and Muret, unaware of his impending arrest, recognized her at once, and said so—the woman from whom he had rented the flat under his alias.

Handle of Charred Bills

Schmidt and Muret, the janitress said, and Muret admitted, spent long hours together in the flat. They told the renting agents that they were medical students and wanted the flat as a place for making experiments necessitated by their studies. What they really did, the police allege, was to experiment in counterfeiting. The kitchen was fitted up as a dark room; a camera, a printing press, photographic supplies and other equipment handy to counterfeiters were found there. But what the police relied on to rivet their case were a bundle of charred counterfeit bills under the kitchen sink and bits of many other such bills charred by fire scattered through the four rooms.

After detectives had placed Muret under arrest they took into custody as a material witness the maid employed at his dental office. She said she was Bertha Zeck and protested with rage that she knew nothing of the crimes with which her employer was suspected. The police, busy with Muret, had little time to play her with questions this morning but expected to pry from her during the day whatever she might know concerning the counterfeiting operations.

Connect Dentist With Murder

With Muret locked up, detectives set about searching his office. There they found, in addition to such equipment as a dentist uses in practicing his profession a revolver and all kinds of obstetrical instruments, several surgical saws and bone forceps. The finding of these instruments, coupled with the fact that Muret and Schmidt had been cronies for some months, caused the detectives to press with renewed vigor the search for something which might directly connect the dentist with the murder of Anna Ammuller.

A strong physical resemblance between Muret and Schmidt led the detectives to question the dentist as to his possible relationship to the confessed murderer. Muret claimed there was none.

Inspector Fraulot, however, was of different mind.

"The foreheads are the same," he said. "The eyes are the same. The noses are the same. The ears are the same. If these two men are not brothers they are closely related."

Imitation of $50 Bills

The copper plate from which spurious bills were struck was made, in the opinion of the detectives, by an expert engraver. The maker may have been Schmidt or Muret, but detectives believe it was neither. They sought such an expert today as an accomplice. The bills were imitations of $50 yellowbacks.

William Flynn, chief of the United States secret service, read New York today and began an investigation of Schmidt and Muret's counterfeiting methods and plan.

Muret told the police he was born in Chicago. Framed in his office was a dentists membership, purporting to have been issued at Chicago Dec. 23, 1911, by the Central Protective Association of the United States. The certificate was made out to Dr. E. Muret. Dr. Muret said he had been abroad studying for 11 years and had been a student at the Berlin College of Berlin, had failed to pass his examinations and was denied a diploma. He returned to New York in 1903 and after serving as an assistant to several New York dentists he opened an office here two years ago.

When arraigned today on the technical charge of having a pistol in his possession Muret was held in $5000 bail. He waived examination.

Injured Her Side

A girl named Helen Roddy of 317 Market street injured her side while at work in the spinning department of the Hamilton manufacturing company about 3 o'clock this morning. It is said that the girl while working near a spinning frame slipped and struck her side against a part of the machine. She was taken in the ambulance to the Lowell hospital where it was said that her injuries were slight.

IRON MINING INDUSTRY

Statistics Presented by
Census Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—Statistics for the iron mining industry in the United States in 1909 are presented in detail in a bulletin just issued by Director Harris of the Bureau of the census, department of commerce. It was prepared under the supervision of Isaac A. Hourwich, expert special agent for mining.

The total number of iron mines in the United States in 1909 was 453. The number of persons engaged in the industry on December 31, 1909, or nearest representative date was 35,116, of whom 52,230 were wage earners. The expenses of operation and development amounted to $74,071,830, of which the payments for salaries and wages constituted somewhat less than half. The production of iron ore in crude form was 51,571,229 tons, but some of the ore produced in New York is concentrated at the mines and the net production, after concentration, for the country as a whole was 51,717,920 tons. The quantity used by blast furnaces at the mines or shipped from the mines for use in additional blast furnaces at a distance or for sale was 50,521,268 tons, and its value at the mine was $106,535,574, besides which magnetiferous ore and other by-products, to the value of $407,595 were produced, making the total value of products $106,943,169. The value of iron ore produced in other industries (gold and silver mining, limestone quarrying, and brick and tile manufacturing) in 1909 was reported as $175,965, which, added to the net value of ore at the iron mines ($106,535,574), gives a total value of iron ore for 1909 amounting to $106,715,539.

The Lake Superior district, which comprises Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan, and the Southern district, which comprises Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee, were the principal producing districts, the combined production of these two districts representing 91.9 per cent of the total tonnage of ore used by the operators in their own blast furnaces or sold in the market. The predominance of the Lake Superior district in the iron mining industry is shown conspicuously. More than four-fifths of the ore used and sold in 1909 came from this district, and the value of this ore, including by-products, represented nearly seven-eighths of the total for the country.

Leading States
In 1909 Minnesota led in the output of iron ore in the United States with a production of 25,314,713 tons, or 56 per

How to Keep Face
Young and Attractive

(National Hygienic Review.)

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. The only legitimate prevention is to avoid trying experiments with preparations not endorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercurized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted under-skin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion. The wax's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint which hazel. It is used as a face bath.

decreased during the 30 years, from $0.49 to $0.42.

Practically all of the ore ($3.9 per cent.) upon which royalties were paid in 1909, was mined in the Lake Superior district. The amount reported as produced under royalty in that district was 34,447,782 tons, being 81.5 per cent. of the total output of the district. The royalties paid on this ore were $14,637,993, in addition to which a small amount was paid in royalties on ore the tonnage of which was not reported separately. The average royalty per ton in the Lake Superior district was the same as in the United States taken as a whole.

The largest amount of taxes was paid in Minnesota and Michigan, the total for these two states ($2,712,000) being 93.3 per cent. of the total for the United States. The taxes in Minnesota were equal to $0.10 per ton of ore mined during the year, or to nearly $9 per acre of the land held (by ownership or lease) by the operators, and in Michigan the taxes were equal to $0.08 per ton mined, or to nearly $4 per acre held, whereas in other states the average amount of taxes ranged from $0.01 to $0.25 per ton. For all states taken together, except Minnesota and Michigan, the taxes averaged only $0.33 per acre controlled by the operators. In Minnesota less than five per cent. of the total acreage owned or held under lease was reported as known mineral land, and in Michigan only about seven per cent. The taxes on lands held under lease are ordinarily paid by the operators and not by the owners.

Wage Earners
The 10-hour working day (for all or most employees) is customary in a large majority of the iron mines of the United States, and in 1909 was the rule, without exception, in the states of Iowa, Kentucky, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Texas, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. On the other hand, the 8-hour day was reported for all mines in Utah, five mines in Alabama, six in New Jersey, and one each in Pennsylvania, Virginia and Nevada.

The greatest degree of concentration of wage earners was reported from the Lake Superior district, where 10 operators with over 500 wage earners each employed 25,910, or over five-sixths of the total number of wage earners for that district. In the southern and other districts between two-fifths and one-half of all wage earners were employed by operators employing more than 500 wage earners each. On the other hand, in each district, operators employing 20 wage earners or less reported but a small percentage of the total number employed.

Form of Organization
The corporate was the predominant form of organization in iron mining, both in 1899 and 1909. During the seven years a total of absolute decreases occurred in the business of enterprises not under corporate control. Unincorporated operators reported in 1909 only a fraction of one per cent. of the value of products.

Mr. Gilman in Lowell
Mr. Gilman, author of the writing books, was in Lowell on Monday and had a conference with the teachers whom the superintendent appointed as a committee on writing. Other meetings are to be held at which Mr. Gilman will endeavor to give the schools all possible assistance in getting the work under way. His next meeting will be Monday, Sept. 22, at the High school, at 4:15 p. m., when he will meet teachers of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. It is likely that the number of these teachers will be so large that it will be necessary to separate them into two classes.

Transfer Pupils
There is a little crowding in some of the primary schools of the city and it will be imperative in all probability to send some of the pupils who are now in the crowded schools to other buildings where the numbers are smaller. Even if this should cause some temporary inconvenience a little consideration will show that such a change would be for the good and advantage of the pupils. It is needless to say that those in charge of the schools will not willingly cause either children or their parents any unnecessary inconvenience.

WOMEN FROM ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC
From all section of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass. Any woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should not rest until she has given this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

The Chief Advantage of
Crawford
Boilers

over other boilers is that they heat the houses they are rated to heat;—you don't have to get the "next larger size." A fact worth noting.

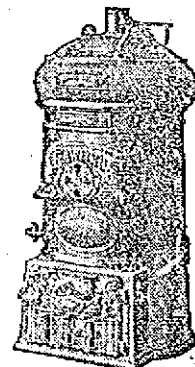

These Boilers give more heat per pound of coal than others and cost less in repairs. They are simplicity itself in operation, are guaranteed for zero weather efficiency and save fuel and labor.

There are no packed joints, sheet iron parts or brick linings in these Boilers, and the "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors are found in no others.

They are a gilt edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care.

MAN'S SPINE BROKEN

HENRY PARKER IS DYING AT CITY HOSPITAL IN BOSTON—STRUCK WITH CLEAVER

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Henry Parker, 46 years old, of 4 Decatur street, Cambridge, is dying at the City Hospital with a fractured spine and the doctors say he has only three days to live.

So serious is his condition that the attendants say that if he should happen to sneeze death would immediately follow. Every precaution is being taken to see that he shall not catch cold or that nothing should happen that might cause any irritation of the nasal membranes.

Parker has been in the hospital since last Thursday, when the police found him lying senseless on some barrels on Atlantic avenue. He was sent to the Relief hospital, where it was found that his spine had been fractured.

His condition was such that he was sent to the City hospital, where there are greater facilities for the treatment of such cases. He is now encased in bags of sand and everything possible is being done for him to save his life and, if not, to prolong it as much as possible.

Last night Parker became conscious and for the first time the hospital authorities were given any facts regarding the cause of his injuries. He said that he had been in a store on Atlantic avenue and had had some words with some men in the store there and was put out.

As he was going through the door, he says he was struck on the back of the neck with a cleaver and immediately became unconscious.

He asked for his brother and an hour or so later when the brother came to the hospital, the story was repeated. After hearing the story, the brother came to police headquarters, where he related the story to Lieut. Goff.

Sgt. Donovan of the Hanover street station was asked about the case and all the information that had there was the report of the officer who picked up Parker.

Sgt. Donovan was told what Parker had said as to how he had received his injuries and was instructed to start an immediate investigation.

Sgt. O'Donnell and Special Officer McDonald were detailed to the work.

As Parker had told a story of an assault being made upon him, it was deemed advisable to have him making a final statement of the fact and Inspector Dennessy was sent to the dying man's bedside, where late last night he repeated the story he had told earlier in the evening.

Miss Helen Estelle Draper of 20 Ellsworth street, resumes her studies at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, next week.

BOWS TO PRES. WILSON

NO PROTEST FROM WALSH ON THE COLLECTORSHIP—GASTON SAID TO BE "PUT OUT"

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Lieut. Gov. David I. Walsh attended a meeting of the finance committee of the democratic state committee yesterday afternoon, at which about $1500, it is said, was pledged for the campaign. The head of the committee, the Hon. Charles B. Strecher for the place, but he evidently is not to be named, but as a loyal democrat I acquiesce in the judgment of the national leaders of the party, regardless of my own personal views.

Congressman Curley, who was in town yesterday, announced that his Tammany club would endorse the candidature of Walsh and Barry for governor and Lieut. governor respectively.

Curley is the first Boston congressman to back over the traces and come out against the state committee of Walsh and Long.

Congressman Curley said yesterday that from all he could learn while in Washington last week, the administration intended to go through with Edmund Billings for collector of the port. "It's an outrage, but what can you do about it?" he asked.

Senator Lodge, who came on with the funeral party, expected to stay at his Nahant home two weeks or more. President Wilson has sounded the Massachusetts senators on Billings for collector. Both told him that they would voice no objections to his appointment. This means, say the supporters of Billings, that the latter will be named for collector.

Incidentally, it is claimed, Col. Gaston and friends are sore over the failure to name their candidate, John T. Burnett.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Another chapter has been opened in the troubles of the town officials of Revere, past and present, by the filing of an attachment for $5000 in the Suffolk registry of deeds against the real estate of Samuel A. Seger and Charles H. Bates. The latter respondent is still chairman of the board of assessors, while Mr. Seger is the deposed member of the board, with a three years' sentence hanging over his head, pending an appeal to the supreme court on exonerations.

WANT CARS TO GO SLOW

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—As a result of two persons being instantly killed by speeding electric cars within six years at "death crossing" corner of Mystic avenue and Main street, Medford, and the expected death of little Thomas Barry, four years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Barry of 122 Main street, Medford, who was struck by an inbound Boston & Northern car yesterday in front of his home, the citizens in that vicinity will demand that the cars proceed slow while passing the dangerous crossing.

James Higgins, the 9-year-old Centerville boy who was run over and badly injured by an automobile on Bridge street yesterday afternoon, died shortly after 10 o'clock last night at St. John's hospital. The body was removed to his home, 131 Lakewood avenue.

Three Lowell Athletes Leave This
Week — Carter to Mercersburg
—Cawley and Bailey to Colby

Three of the greatest athletes ever turned out by the local high school will leave this week to take up their advanced studies and "incidentally" athletics. There is not a shadow of a doubt that all three boys can make whatever branch of athletics they attempt.

"Charlie" Carter enters Mercersburg academy in Pennsylvania. This fall Carter has been one of the mainstays was in town the other day and called upon both of these athletes at the instigation of the sporting department of The Sun. Daly is now head coach at Colby and his arguments in favor of his adopted college induced both boys to take their examinations for the institution.

Cawley and Bailey will leave tomorrow for Waterville and will at once take their examinations for entrance.

Eddie Cawley and "Heinie" Bailey will go to Colby college in Waterville, Me. Eddie Daly, ex-captain of the Dartmouth football and baseball teams, of sport.

They Look to Have the Call on Hartford — Lowell Club is Now
Complete

The greatest question just now before the local sporting public is, "who will win the Lowell-Hartford series?" Hartford fans and baseball critics in the Connecticut city pick Hartford as the logical winner but, knowing the Lowell club individually and collectively as we do we can hardly concede a victory to the winners of the Eastern Association flag.

This statement is not meant to reflect in the slightest upon our opponents in the series. Hartford has a grand ball club in fact the greatest that the city has ever turned out. But we are of the opinion that no club of its class in the country can send our team down to defeat.

The Lowell club won the pennant by their finish. Out of the last 22 games played in the league season 20 of them were victories. A team that can put up an exhibition of baseball such as this at the close of a season's work is in the best of condition.

The Hartford Club
Hartford has a quartet of first grade players leading off for them. Curry, second baseman, leads the order with Hoffman, left field, Kauff right field and Hoy, center, coming directly after him. These four men have been a terror to their opponents all season and it cannot be denied that they are all sterling ball players.

If Hartford is forced to play without her regular shortstop, who was sent on to Washington at the close of the season, they will be obliged to fill in with a pitcher at his position. Reiger, a brother of the Lowell twinner, is the man picked for the job. Reiger is considered a classy infielder but the difference will surely be felt before the close of the series. No man, no matter how clever he may have been formerly, can work in the box all season and then jump out into the long infield and feel at home. This will be the one weak point in the Hartford defense.

Lowell will place her team in the field, intact. If both teams were even at the start Hartford's loss of her shortstop would immediately place them under a tremendous handicap. Thus, looking at the series from an impersonal viewpoint, it appears that Hartford is up against a tough proposition and that they will have to have all of the "baseball breaks" in order to win out. From the sidewalk, it looks like a pretty fair wager to say that Lowell will win the series before the seven games are played out.

HEAR CASE OF CY MORGAN

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 16.—Having completed the work necessary in connection with the drafting of players by Major league clubs from minor leagues the national baseball commission today turned its attention to routine matters. One of the cases to come before the commission is that of Cy Morgan, formerly a Boston American player who was sold to Cincinnati by Kansas City when it is alleged he was utterly unfit for work. The price agreed upon for Morgan was $10,000, half of which has been already been paid. President Herrmann of the Cincinnati club as soon as he heard of Morgan's alleged condition held up the second payment and brought the case to the attention of the commission with a view of obtaining a refund of the money already given for the player. President George Tebeau of the Kansas City club will appear before the commission to defend his action in the case and Morgan also will be heard by the commission.

LOWELL MEN DRAFTED IN THE PROBATE COURT

ZIESER, HALSTEIN, MILLER AND
MAGEE, THE LUCKY ONES—WILL STAY HERE FOR SERIES

Four Lowell players were obtained by major league clubs yesterday at the meeting of the National Baseball Commission held in Cincinnati yesterday. It was expected that all four of these players would go by the draft route after the season had gone by without bids being made for them.

Zieser is the only pitcher who was snapped up by the "big show." The Red Sox have drafted "Matty" and he will report to their spring training camp next season. Zieser has always said that he would rather play ball with the Boston Americans than any other major league club and was greatly pleased when he learned of his draft.

Halstein and Magee will don the uniforms of the Chicago White Sox as soon as the series between Lowell and Hartford are finished. Scout Mills has been watching both men perform all season and simply held off because no other club seemed to be looking either man over. If another club had been after either or both of these players the Lowell management would doubtless have made a small pot of money out of their sale.

Miller is the fourth player of the quartet who will go higher another season. Eddie has been snapped up by the draft figure by the St. Louis Americans with whom he tacked on at the first part of this season. Miller has improved wonderfully this year both with the club and in his fielding and has acquired another year's experience to help him along with the major league company.

Lowell fans, and for that matter, the fans all around the circuit would not be greatly surprised to see all four players stick with the big league. Every player is a New England league celebrity and will carry the well wishes of the entire circuit with him when he leaves Lowell for his "flight of draft."

He was so badly mangled that he died later at the hospital. The boy escaped with slight injuries. Acencont was taking the train to a school for the deaf in Portland. THAW CASE

Continued

Sheriff of Coos county, arrived here today at 5 o'clock for arraignment in the United States district court before Judge Aldrich on a writ of habeas corpus. Thaw remained in the smoker during the trip from Colebrook. Crowds greeted him at every station. Sitting by an open window, he made it a point to lean out and talk with the idlers. On arriving here he was taken to the marshal's headquarters, preparatory to being arraigned at 11 o'clock.

Crowd at Court House

The little courtroom began to fill up shortly after 10 o'clock.

The general public was not admitted, but perhaps one hundred of the select, friends of court attendants and the like, managed to gain admittance. Outside the building a crowd, in which women predominated, jammed the street from curb to curb. They did not get a glimpse of Thaw for his quarters were in the rear of the building. Jerome came in a few minutes before 11 and then the Thaw lawyers, Moses H. Grossman and L. J. Verhaas of New York City, ex-Governor Stone of Pennsylvania and Merrill Shurtliff of Colebrook.

Necks were craned and the women leaned forward to have a good look at Thaw, when that gentleman reached the counsel table.

The fugitive closed his eyes, rested his cheek on his hand and did not give the spectators a glance. A girl with blue eyes, cheeks flushed, stood on tip-toe for five minutes gazing raptly at the back of his head.

Jerome sat almost opposite the prisoner. Judge Aldrich, in robes, took his seat at 11:05.

Jerome Objected

Mr. Shurtliff for Thaw pointing out that the extradition hearing in the Thaw case was to be held probably tomorrow asked that the habeas corpus hearing be postponed. Jerome objected.

"There is no federal issue involved here," he said. "I feel constrained to say that this writ has been obtained under circumstances which approach very near trifling with the court."

Here he introduced an affidavit by Lindsey Dennison, a reporter, setting forth that Thaw's counsel had told him that the writ had been obtained, not to bring about the fugitive's freedom now but to safeguard him in the future against sudden removal should extradition be granted.

"This writ," Jerome concluded, "presents no serious question of law or fact but was obtained for no other purpose than delay."

G. F. Morris, one of Thaw's New Hampshire lawyers, answered Jerome. The application for the writ was entirely regular, he said, while the warrant on which New York sought to get Thaw was a mere subterfuge.

"It is an honest endeavor on our part to get this matter before the court," he said.

"We have had no assurance that Brother Jerome would not take Mr. Thaw at once if the extradition warrant was signed."

THAW LEFT COLEBROOK FOR

LITTLETON AT 5:18 O'CLOCK

THIS MORNING

COLEBROOK, N. H., Sept. 16.—Harry K. Thaw, with his counsel and train of contending lawyers, left at 5:18 o'clock this morning for Littleton to appear in the United States district court in the pending habeas corpus proceedings.

Thaw's attorneys had obtained this writ as a protection in case Governor Folger signed a warrant granting the fugitive's extradition.

Thaw arose early today. Early breakfast was ordered for all hands last night and the Thaw followers, newspapermen, lawyers, guards, telegraph operators and the persistent curious trooped toward the Maine Central railroad station shortly after sunrise to board the train.

Thaw was to be represented in court before Judge Aldrich by Moses Grossman and L. J. Verhaas of New York City. Jerome himself was to appear for the state of New York. He was prepared to resist the move of the Thaw lawyers to obtain a continuance of the writ on the ground that it was not a bona fide writ of habeas corpus but an emergency measure designed to meet possible developments after the extradition hearing at Concord tentatively set for Wednesday. Thaw's lawyers on the other hand said they would contend that while they did not seek their client's immediate release they desired the court's protection in view of the fact that the New Hampshire statutes afforded them no recourse to the courts once the governor had granted extradition.

Thaw was silent but jubilant at the prospect of appearing in a federal court for the first time in his career. He was in the joint custody of Sheriff Drew of Coos county and United States Marshal E. P. Nute.

KILLED BY AUTO

Judge Pickman Finds Death Was Not Due to Criminal Negligence

According to the finding on the inquest of Robert Marston, alias Robert Heald, who met his death in Chelmsford Sept. 2, by being struck by an automobile owned and operated by Crispin George Armstrong, held before Judge John J. Pickman, recently, defendant was found "not criminally negligent." The finding, in part, reads as follows:

Before all of the evidence before me I am not clear in my mind that a warning signal was given by the operator of the automobile from the time that he passed over the crossing to where the boy was struck. The operator of the automobile testified that he did not see any person or persons standing or walking upon the road or by the side of the road until he came within a few feet of the boy who was struck. A younger brother of the boy who was struck by the automobile was walking at some distance north of the place where the accident occurred, and seeing his brother running toward the truck, apparently unconscious of the automobile that was coming down the road toward him he called out to his brother to warn him to get out of the way of the automobile, but by reason of the noise of the truck or other reasons, his brother did not appear to hear him. The operator of the automobile had a license to run it and from an experience of ten or twelve years was familiar with the running of automobiles.

I find that the operator of the automobile was not running the same a reckless or unusual rate of speed at the time the accident occurred or shortly prior thereto.

I find that the operator of the automobile did not give a warning signal with his horn or other device to pedestrians upon the highway prior to the accident, but in connection therewith I find that said operator did not see the boy or other pedestrians on the highway in season to give a timely warning, nor do I find upon all the evidence that his failure to see the boy in season to give the warning, that ought otherwise to have been given was due to the inattention or carelessness of the operator.

In conclusion: I find that on Tuesday, the second day of September current, that Robert Marston, otherwise called Robert Heald, of the age of 13 years, while upon a highway in that part of town of Chelmsford, was struck by an automobile that was owned and operated by Crispin George Armstrong of said Chelmsford and thereby sustained injuries from the effects of which he soon afterwards died.

I further find that the injuries that resulted in the death were not caused by the criminal negligence of said Crispin George Armstrong, who was operating said automobile.

(Signed) John J. Pickman, Special Justice of the Police Court of Lowell, and Acting.

SIDEWALK WORK

Continued

It was voted to give Mr. O'Dowd a hearing on Tuesday next, Mr. Donnelly, head of the streets and highways department, desiring that one be held.

Grade Crossings

In preparation for the hearing scheduled to be held in East Cambridge on Monday, Sept. 23, 1913, in regard to the abolition of grade crossings in Middlesex street, Fletcher street and Western avenue, it was voted:

That the commissioner of streets and highways hereby is instructed to have prepared for the law department of the city of Lowell suitable plans and profiles, delineating the present location of the tracks and grade of the Boston & Maine railroad at and about Middlesex street station in the city of Lowell, and at and about Western avenue and Fletcher street in the said city of Lowell, and to do all the necessary work in preparation of suitable and necessary plans, measurements and delineations to be used as evidence at the hearing to be held in East Cambridge on Monday, September 23, 1913, in relation to the abolition of grade crossings at Middlesex street, Western avenue and Fletcher street.

Public Auto Park

His Honor the mayor, submitted an ordinance setting aside a tract of land as a public parking place for automobiles. It was as follows:

An ordinance setting out all that portion of land in the rear of the Market house building on Market st., in the city of Lowell as a public parking place for automobiles.

Section 1: That all that portion of land in the rear of the Market house building on Market st. in the city of Lowell is hereby set out and designated as a public parking place for automobiles and other motor propelled vehicles.

Section 2: That this ordinance shall in no way impair any right heretofore granted by the ordinance, or otherwise, for the maintaining of a stand for the sale of hay and other commodities.

Section 3: This ordinance shall take effect upon its passage.

The ordinance was enrolled and passed to be ordained.

Mortar for City

The mayor read a communication from Congressman John Jacob Rogers in which the writer stated that he could procure for a city a mortar which, because of imperfect construction, is unsuited for government use, but which would be a fine ornament to the city. The mortar has a bore of 13 inches and weighs about nine tons. The only cost to the city will be that of transportation. Investigation has shown that the cost to bring the mortar from Portsmouth to this city will be about 15 cents per hundred pounds, making a total of a little more than $30 and Mayor O'Donnell estimated that the entire cost would be no more than $50. Mr. Brown moved for the acceptance of the mortar and Mr. Barrett offered an amendment to the effect that the ornament when it arrives, be placed upon the North common. It was so voted.

Contagious Hospital Site

A communication was read from one Albert J. Ryan of 731 Westford street in which he offered a lot on the north-west side of Seventh avenue in Pawtucketville as a site for the proposed contagious hospital. With the letter he sent a plan of the location.

Claims For Damages

A hearing was resumed in the petition of John Durand for compensation for damages to the extent of $123 to certain fancy aluminum cards in his place in Central street the cards, he said, having been destroyed in the burning of the water main near there last January. Mr. Durand presented samples of the cards, similar to those which were damaged. He had on it, a man who roomed in the building, and who said that he saw them taking the sand out of Mr. Durand's cellar.

Catherine Wholley, through her attorney, James H. Carmichael sought compensation for damages on account of injuries received by her in a fall on the Mammoth road sidewalk.

Thomas Sheehan petitioned compensation for injuries received while in the employ of the water department and Thomas Muldon filed a similar petition.

The New England Road Machinery company requested payment of a bill of $349.02 against the street department incurred during 1911.

The Lowell Trust company claimed compensation for damages received because of the bursting of the water pipe at Tower's corner on January 25.

All the above were referred to the law department.

Barrett Reads Letter

During the hearing His Honor asked for a motion to adjourn to 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, this having been requested by Commissioner Cummins, who could not be present this morning.

Before adjournment Mr. Barrett requested permission to read a letter which he had received from A. E. Shaw, Jr. D. in which the latter stated that he had recently been misquoted by one of the local papers. Mr. Shaw said that a reporter had questioned him regarding a typhoid case which he was attending and asked if it had been caused by the city water. The ing had been brought into practice. The road is gutters and the water will be carried by pipes to the river. The work has been hampered more or less by contention with springs that insisted upon hobbling up every few rods, this difficulty, however, has been overcome and the missing link is fast nearing completion.

Everybody in Dracut will appreciate this new road, in time," said James J. McManmon today, "because it will mean a big increase in valuation. Things are booming out this way and if you don't believe it just try to hire a house. There are not half enough houses here now to supply the demand and the new road is responsible for the boom."

NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE OVER THE RICHARDSON BROOK IN DRACUT

Merrimack avenue in Dracut, constituting the missing link in the great state highway scheme from New Hampshire to the sea, is nearing completion and if you are looking for a real happy man just drop in on James J. McManmon, the Prescott street foreman. Mr. McManmon has worked for years on the proposition to have the missing link supplied in the state highway plan and in front of his own premises, in Dracut, he is witnessing the completion of one of its very important parts, the building of a concrete bridge over Richardson's brook. The bridge is 60 feet long, 12 feet high and 12 feet wide.

It was stated today that the bridge would be completed by the middle of October and the street railway tracks which were moved to the highway when the job was begun have been replaced and cars are crossing over the new bridge that is still under process of construction. The tracks over the bridge are supported by extra timbers that will be taken away as soon as the concrete is in shape to admit of the gravel filling.

The bridge, when completed, will be massing timbers and it might be said in passing that it will be keeping with the rest of the work connected with the state highway in that section, which is said to be perfect. The work is being done by Contractor Wagonbach of Lawrence and is being supervised by Engineer Coburn.

Exceptional care has been taken in the layout of the road and every modern method in the road building

ing has been brought into practice. The road is gutters and the water will be carried by pipes to the river. The work has been hampered more or less by contention with springs that insisted upon hobbling up every few rods, this difficulty, however, has been overcome and the missing link is fast nearing completion.

Everybody in Dracut will appreciate this new road, in time," said James J. McManmon today, "because it will mean a big increase in valuation. Things are booming out this way and if you don't believe it just try to hire a house. There are not half enough houses here now to supply the demand and the new road is responsible for the boom."

Stretch of Road in Town of Dracut—Completes State Highway

NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE OVER THE RICHARDSON BROOK IN DRACUT

Merrimack avenue in Dracut, constituting the missing link in the great state highway scheme from New Hampshire to the sea, is nearing completion and if you are looking for a real happy man just drop in on James J. McManmon, the Prescott street foreman. Mr. McManmon has worked for years on the proposition to have the missing link supplied in the state highway plan and in front of his own premises, in Dracut, he is witnessing the completion of one of its very important parts, the building of a concrete bridge over Richardson's brook. The bridge is 60 feet long, 12 feet high and 12 feet wide.

It was stated today that the bridge would be completed by the middle of October and the street railway tracks which were moved to the highway when the job was begun have been replaced and cars are crossing over the new bridge that is still under process of construction. The tracks over the bridge are supported by extra timbers that will be taken away as soon as the concrete is in shape to admit of the gravel filling.

The bridge, when completed, will be massing timbers and it might be said in passing that it will be keeping with the rest of the work connected with the state highway in that section, which is said to be perfect. The work is being done by Contractor Wagonbach of Lawrence and is being supervised by Engineer Coburn.

Exceptional care has been taken in the layout of the road and every modern method in the road building

ing has been brought into practice. The road is gutters and the water will be carried by pipes to the river. The work has been hampered more or less by contention with springs that insisted upon hobbling up every few rods, this difficulty, however, has been overcome and the missing link is fast nearing completion.

BODY BURNED TO CRISP

Man Perished in Stable Fire—12 Horses Lost

TAUNTON, Sept. 16.—One man was burned to death, five others had narrow escapes and 12 valuable horses were lost in a fire which destroyed the livery stable of Fred H. Galloway on causing a loss of $25,000.

A party of six men, in a room on the Whittenton street, here last night, second story of the building were aroused by a burst of flame from below and all but one escaped safely. The dead man is thought to be William Smith, 35 years, married, of this city, although positive identification had not been made last night. The body was burned practically to a crisp.

The cause of the fire is not known. Starting in the rear of the lower floor of the stable it spread rapidly and caused great alarm among the residents of a thickly settled residential district. About 20 carriages, an automobile, harnesses and several tons of hay were licked up by the flames.

NORMAN MACK SUES FOR LIBEL

Failed to Appear Before John A. Hennessy, Gov. Sulzer's Special Investigator

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Norman Mack, former chairman of the democratic committee failed to appear before John A. Hennessy, Gov. Sulzer's special investigator, today to answer charges of having failed to account for money contributed to him in the last gubernatorial campaign.

Instead Mr. Mack, through his secretary, James W. Kelly, served Mr. Hennessy with summons and complaint in a $5,000 action for libel.

Mr. Mack complains that Mr. Hennessy has caused to be published charges in effect that the plaintiff unlawfully appropriated to his own use money contributed by others as a campaign fund toward the election of John A. Dix as governor of the state of New York and said publication also charges in effect that the plaintiff blackmailed individuals and corporations in connection with the collection of campaign funds.

Following the publication of Mr. Hennessy's charges, Mr. Mack announced his willingness to appear before the investigator at any time and place he might designate. Mr. Hennessy then fixed the hearing at Albany at 10 o'clock this morning.

After waiting with stenographers for half an hour Mr. Hennessy announced as neither Mr. Mack nor Arthur A. McLean of Newburgh, treasurer of the democratic state committee, had appeared, the session stood adjourned.

MACK ADVISED TO SUE BY FORMER SUPERIOR COURT JUSTICE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Acting under advice of former superior judge Justice Daniel J. Kenefick, Democratic National Committee member Norman Mack did not appear at Albany today before John A. SULZER WITNESS LOST QUITS HUERTA CABINET

Frederic I. Colwell Has Dr. Urrutia's Resignation Disappeared

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Frederic I. Colwell of Yonkers, regarded as a star witness against Governor Sulzer at his forthcoming trial on impeachment charges has disappeared, according to announcement today made by the assembly board of impeachment.

Information in possession of the board is to the effect that Colwell is absconding himself from the jurisdiction of the board at the direct instigation of the governor and for the purpose of avoiding testifying against the governor at his trial, reads a lengthy statement issued on behalf of the board by Aaron J. Levy, its chairman.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 15.—Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, Mexican minister of the interior, has left the cabinet. His resignation was accepted at midnight by Provisional President Huerta. Dr. Urrutia is under charges proffered by Senator Carrero for arresting him in defiance of his office of senator.

Mr. Levy added that a country-wide search had been made for Colwell recently without success.

Testimony adduced by the Frawley investigating committee of the legislature at hearings here was to the effect that Colwell had purchased 200 shares of railroad stock last fall with money given to Gov. Sulzer's campaign fund, the personal check of Sulzer for $900 and currency amounting to $7,125.

The Workmen's Act

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The supreme judicial court sent down an opinion yesterday interpreting a paragraph of the new workmen's compensation act. By the decision a widow is entitled to receive the benefits of the insurance to the total exclusion of whatever children there may be.

The decision reverses the finding of the industrial board which named a daughter as one of the beneficiaries with her mother.

The case was that of the widow of Stuart McNeil, who was killed by a fellow workman while in the employ of Patterson, Wyde & Company, importers.

McNeil was paid $15 a week, so the superior court, on the report of the industrial board, entered a decree of $7.50 a week to be paid for 300 weeks to the widow, Annie McNeil, and the minor daughter, Josephine, who is under 13 years of age.

HORSE BROKE HYDRANT

And Cheever and Aiken Streets Were Flooded

A runaway horse caused havoc in the Little Canada district yesterday afternoon when the carriage he was pulling collided with a hydrant of the water department, snapping it near the ground. The result of this mishap was that a great part of Cheever and Aiken streets was flooded, the water streaming out of the hydrant, reaching a height of about 3 feet. The animal fortunately was brought to a stop before any other damage was done.

The horse, the property of H. Chaffoux, hawker and peddler, was in Cheever street shortly after one o'clock this afternoon. The master took the horse's bridle away and was about to feed the animal, when the bridle fell to the horse's feet, scaring the animal. It started at full speed up Cheever street toward Pawtucket street, and when it reached the corner of Aiken street, one of the front wheels collided with the hydrant opposite Toupin's drug store.

The horse was upset, but this did not stop the horse which was headed toward Pawtucket street. When the hydrant snapped, the water streamed into the air, and soon the street resembled a miniature river. Commissioner Barrett and Supt. Thomas of the water department were notified and a short time later they arrived on the premises with workmen, who shut off the water a few feet away from the hydrant.

The contents of the wagon, consisting of tomatoes and other vegetables, were scattered on the road and the potatoes and other things were soon washed away by the small flood. The horse, kept up its wild pace as far as Melvin street, then it went down Perkins street, where it was later stopped by Severin Beaudry. Toupin's store and cellar were badly flooded, but no damage was caused to the stock.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION

The Boys of St. Patrick's School

CELEBRATE VICTORY IN LIBRARY VOTING CONTEST

With Big Parade in Which Numerous Banners Were Displayed, Telling How Victory Was Won

The boys of St. Patrick's parochial school last night celebrated their grand victory in the big library voting contest, recently concluded, with a parade through the main streets of the city. The celebration had a double object, first to let everyone know that St. Patrick's school was the winner and second to extend a sort of a public expression of gratitude to the friends who helped the institution. That they succeeded admirably in both there can be no doubt.

Notice was given that all the boys of the school should meet in the school hall last evening at 7 o'clock to prepare for the celebration and they complied with delight, glad of the opportunity.

Shortly before 5 o'clock the procession started, proceeding from Suffolk to Market, to Merrimack street, along the latter to Prescott, up Prescott and back to Central to Merrimack and thence back to the school. The streets and sidewalks were crowded with shouting and cheering spectators and the boys received a great hand everywhere.

It was some parade. Led by Marshal John O'Brien and his assistant, Edward O'Neill, both mounted, the boys marched singing and cheering enthusiastically. From the length of the procession, it was evident that the summons to celebrate was widely received and responded to with a will.

The Dancers

To attract the attention of the spectator and impress upon him or her the fact of the brilliant victory and of the general superiority of St. Patrick's in general affairs, there were numerous banners. Some of them were as follows: "Leaders, First, Last and All the Time," "We're 'Yon With Us," "Thanks to Our Friends." At the rear of the procession was a large covered wagon decorated with bunting of national colors and containing the first prize in the contest, the big library of numerous valuable volumes. Just preceding this was a group bearing signs descriptive of how St. Patrick's won the contest. The first was "How We Won," and following were signs bearing by way of explanation, these inscriptions: "Sun Coupons," "Soap Wrappers," "Bread Labels," "Store Votes," etc. Then came two more banners saying "First Prize" and "How It Is," and directly following was the wagon load of books.

Some of the boys were decorated with green sashes and the majority of them bore placards inscribed "St. Patrick's."

One youngster was dressed in a long coat and tall hat on which were pinned votes from the contest, bread labels, etc.

On passing the Sun building, the boys cheered loudly and received hearty applause in return. Everyone was with them last night and they received enthusiastic congratulations from every quarter.

When they proceeded back to the hall refreshments were served and a general good time enjoyed.

Congratulations, boys of St. Patrick's school.

LOSS $300,000

Fire Destroyed Big Department Store at New Rochelle, New York

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—

Fire that destroyed the big department store of the Howard Ware corporation was extinguished early today after it had caused a loss of about $300,000. The burned area covered an entire block on Main street between Center avenue and Bank street, practically the same site that was burned over by the great fire of 20 years ago. Several small buildings in the same block, occupied by stores and tenements also were destroyed. No lives were lost. An early report that two employees of the department store were missing proved unfounded.

TEACHER NEARLY KILLED

Autos Collide at Portsmouth—Others Hurt

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 15.—As the result of an automobile collision near Vaneys Bridge, a few miles out of Dover, last night Miss Corilla C. Eggleston, a teacher in the first and second grades of the Farragut school, this city, is at the Wentworth hospital, Dover, with a fractured skull, and no hopes are entertained of her recovery.

A party, composed of Conrad Crocker of Fitzwilliam, Miss Eggleston and Miss Margaret Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Goodwin of Broad street left early in the evening for a ride to Dover in an automobile driven by Frank Harvey.

Shortly after 3 p. m. the return to this city was commenced. When about 3 miles out another automobile was met coming from the opposite direction. The car containing the Portsmouth party was struck a glancing blow and overturned. Miss Eggleston being pinned underneath.

Aid was summoned from nearby houses and the injured young woman was taken out unconscious. Miss Eggleston was rushed to the Wentworth hospital, where it was found she was suffering with a fracture of the skull and internal injuries.

Crocker sustained an injury to his back and Harvey, the chauffeur, had his right leg bruised. Miss Goodwin escaped with only a few bruises.

The other car was the Massachusetts number, 4433. It is claimed, and is credited by registry to Arthur A. (Dobbs), 17 Cross street, Lawrence. This car did not overturn, but kept on about 50 feet after the collision, until it was ditched. Who were its occupants or whether they were injured could not be learned. Both cars lost a forward wheel by the collision.

Miss Eggleston came to this city from Berlin about six years ago. She has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin of Broad street.

LOSS $3,000,000 SUIT

Against the United Shoe Machinery Company Dismissed Today

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—A $3,000,000 suit of Charles A. Strout of Portland, Me., trustee for the Goddu Sons' Metal Fastening Co. against the United Shoe Machinery Co. brought under the Sherman anti-trust act, was dismissed in the United States district court today by Judge Dodge on the ground that the action was barred by the statute of limitations.

It was claimed that the United Shoe Machinery Co. by purchase of the majority stock of the Goddu Co. unlawfully restrained the trade and business of the latter company by enforced disuse of its patents.

The decision was based on the fact that all control of the Goddu company by the United Shoe Machinery Co. ceased when the company was placed in the hands of a trustee in February, 1905, and that the suit was not brought until Sept. 11, which is seven months after the six years within which it was possible to bring the suit.

BOY KILLED BY AUTO

He Was Crossing Street When Struck

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Edward McMahon, 10 years old of 125 Shirley street, Roxbury, was struck by an automobile on Shirley street near his home last night receiving injuries from which he died shortly after.

The boy was crossing the street at a point about 30 feet from the corner of Norfolk avenue and Shirley street when he was struck by a seven passenger automobile owned by Joseph T. Kern of Hull, and operated by Edwin Adams of 65 Dennis street, Roxbury. The right front wheel passed over his arm and one of the rear wheels passed over his body. He was placed in the car and taken to the city hospital where he died a few minutes after he arrived.

As soon as the driver, Edwin Adams, was informed of the boy's death he went at once to the Dudley street police station where he was locked up charged with manslaughter. He was later released under $2000 bail.

vailing feeling that this country may resort to armed intervention or eventually make war on Mexico for the purpose of annexing it to the United States. Then there is a feeling of uneasiness coming down from the old Mexican war and the loss of Texas, all of which combine to arouse the ire of the populace against Americans.

"Are Americans in Mexico in any danger as a result of this unfriendly feeling?"

"Not exactly in danger in times of peace; but if another rebellion should break out, they would undoubtedly be the first objects of the fury of the populace."

"At present Americans traveling through Mexico can notice the unfriendly tone of the people, sometimes taking the form of public demonstrations."

"What effect did President Wilson's message have upon the people of Mexico?"

"It greatly intensified the feeling against Americans among the supporters of the Huerta government."

"What proportion of the Mexican people support Huerta?"

"It would be difficult to say, although so far as a stranger can judge there is a decided majority in favor of the Huerta regime. You will understand that it is difficult to get an accurate expression of public opinion in Mexico. If the men are at heart opposed to the government, they are not likely to say so if they value their lives unless they are in the camp of the rebels under Carranza."

"What do the rebels have to accomplish?"

"The overthrow of Huerta or a cessation of hostilities that will give them a share of the spoils."

"What will the rebels do in case of an election?"

"Carranza, the leader, has promised to be a candidate and to accept the

Counting Soon

The McEnelly Singing orchestra of eight pieces, of Boston, comes to play at Associate hall, Friday evening, Sept. 19. This will be a real treat for the local and music-lovers of Lowell.

McEnelly's orchestra is the highest paid team on the road. They introduce many novel features and specialties never attempted by any musical organization. Classic as well as popular dance programs are played. This makes a combination that is filling the galleries and dance floors of the largest halls in the big cities everywhere.

Lowell Opera House

If you want to have a good laugh, do not fail to see "The Feudists" at the Opera House. It is a Vitaphone comedy in two reels and contains John Bunny, Sidney Drew and all the favorites of that famous film company. The many situations are peculiar and laughable and contain everything that a fun loving audience seeks. Another feature of special mention is "The Christian," a Kalem drama of sterling worth, and which tells a most beautiful story. Owing to a severe cold Lowell's favorite baritone, Bernard Horan, was obliged to close after last night's performance and beginning tonight, the matinee today, Miss Lillian Shunry, the well known soprano, will be heard in all new songs. Do not forget the prices 5 cents for children and 10 cents for adults.

The Lawrence Dental club held a regular meeting at the Franklin house, Lawrence, Monday evening with the president, Dr. Charles W. Partridge, in the chair. After the transaction of the regular business the members present listened to an interesting and instructive paper on "Free Public School Clinics," by Dr. Hugh Watier of this city, who was the special guest of the evening. A brief discussion followed the reading of the paper. Supper was served. Those present were Dr. Charles W. Partridge, Dr. Charles A. Frank, Dr. Frederick W. Schenck, Dr. T. M. Fleming, Dr. Robert Farquhar, Dr. John N. Thompson and Dr. E. E. Young.

The Casino

The Casino management announces the engagement of Miner's orchestra, beginning tonight. This orchestra is one of the best for dancing in the entire state, and Casino patrons will undoubtedly show their appreciation of the free concerts that are to be given every night and on Saturday afternoon. The Casino is after only the best.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. Keith's Theatre

The management of Keith's theatre has succeeded in arranging for this week's presentation a bill that is sure to please the Lowell theatregoers. The show lasts two hours and is full of music and comedy with just enough serious vaudeville to satisfy all. There were large audiences at both performances yesterday and they showed their appreciation of the numbers by generous applause at the end of each act.

Four comedies presented by White and Lew Orth, was the feature of the attractive bill. There are six characters in this act which is a mixture of singing and dancing with plenty of comedy showing up throughout the half-hour that the merry-makers are on the stage.

The five Tyrolean troubadours, Venetian singers and dancers, entertain for about 20 minutes and from the time that they make their appearance on the stage until the curtain is drawn the audience is treated to a fine musical program.

Don Fulano, billed as "The horse with a human brain" mystifies the audience by his remarkable tricks and also proves that he is very clever in mathematics. He is able to add and to count as well as the ordinary primary schoolboy of today and can catch a number spoken in any part of the theatre.

Roy Cummings and Helen Gladys entertain very acceptably with their singing and dancing and the music that accompanies their act is also good. Their midnight revellers number is a feature of their act.

Florence Gimponi, a singing comedienne, is sure of getting a good hand from the audience at this theatre. Her singing and dancing is decidedly out of the ordinary.

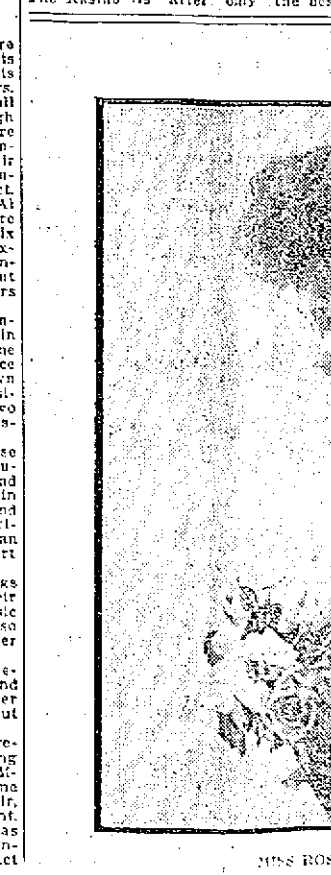

The Torley sensational comedians present an act that is full of thrilling stunts and one that keeps the audience interested every minute. The act is a feature of their act.

As a cartoonist, Chalk Saunders has few of rivals and his drawing is responsible for some of the laughter. This act is sure to be liked.

The Pathe weekly is good this week and is very instructive as well as fun.

HOLE IN MAN'S SKULL

BODY WAS FOUND IN A CLUMP OF BUSHES IN A NEW YORK SUBURB—SLUNG SHOT PICKED UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A gold watch, a silk handkerchief and clothing that had been of the finest quality but was rotted by long exposure to the weather, gave the police today little clue to the identity of the man whose body was found yesterday in a clump of bushes near the New York Central railroad tracks at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, a New York suburb. A note in the man's skull and an improvised slung-shot lying near the body left little doubt that he was murdered. The body was that of a man probably five feet four inches tall and the hair was of light color. The police bent their energies to find the woman whose body was found near the scene led to the discovery of the body. A path worn through the tall grass from the street to the thicket where the victim lay indicated that some one had made frequent visits to the spot since the man was killed a month or more ago.

It looks like Fred H. Rourke for the democratic nomination for county commissioner. Mr. Rourke has many friends throughout the district who are anxious to see him nominated. It will not be the fault of the candidate if he is not, for he has made a thorough canvass of the county, with the exception of Hudson, Maynard, Marlow and Andover, which places will be thoroughly canvassed during the coming week.

MAN'S SPINE BROKEN

HENRY PARKER IS DYING AT CITY HOSPITAL IN BOSTON—STRUCK WITH CLEAVER

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Henry Parker, 46 years old, of 4 Decatur street, Cambridge, is dying at the City hospital with a fractured spine and the doctors say he has only three days to live.

So serious is his condition that the attendants say that if he should happen to sneeze death would immediately follow. Every precaution is being taken to see that he shall not catch cold or that nothing should happen that might cause any irritation of the nasal membranes.

Parker has been in the hospital since last Thursday, when the police found him lying semi-conscious on some barrels on Atlantic avenue. He was sent to the City hospital, where it was found that his spine had been fractured.

His condition was such that he was sent to the City hospital, where there are greater facilities for the treatment of such cases. He is now encased in bags of sand and everything possible is being done for him to save his life and if not, to prolong it as much as possible.

Last night Parker became conscious and for the first time the hospital authorities were given any facts regarding the cause of his injuries. He said that he had been in a store on Atlantic avenue and had had some words with some men in the store there and was put out.

As he was going through the door, he says he was struck on the back of the neck with a cleaver and immediately became unconscious.

He asked for his brother and an hour or so later when the brother came to the hospital, the story was repeated. After hearing the story, the brother came to police headquarters, where he related the story to Lieut. Con.

Sergeant Donovan of the Hanover street station was asked about the case and all the information they had there was the report of the officer who picked up Parker.

Sergeant Donovan was told what Parker had said as to how he had received his injuries and was instructed to start an immediate investigation.

Sergeant O'Donnell and Special Officer McDonald were detailed to the work.

As Parker had told a story of an assault being made upon him, it was deemed advisable to have him making final statement of the fact and Inspector Donnelly was sent to the dying man's bedside, where late last night he repeated the story he had told earlier in the evening.

Miss Helen Estelle Draper of 20 Ellsworth street, resumes her studies at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, next week.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is restless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness. Beware of counterfeit figs—syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup company. Don't be fooled!

Mr. Albert D. Guerre, the traveling agent for the J. C. Ayer company in Central and South American countries is stopping at the American house and a more interesting talker it would be difficult to find.

He has just returned from Mexico and he is thoroughly informed upon every phase of the situation in that unhappy country at the present time. In conversation with a representative of The Sun he explained many points in regard to the situation that may be interesting if not instructive to Lowell readers.

"What is the general feeling towards Americans in Mexico?" queried The Sun man.

"It is strongly anti-American."

"Why anti-American?"

"Because the United States has not recognized the present Huerta government and because of a widely prevalent prejudice."

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS WILL INTRODUCE BILL

Asking Congress to Appropriate $515,- 000 for New Federal Building in This City

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16, 1913

Editor The Lowell Sun:

Dear Sir: Acting secretary of the treasury, John Skelton Williams, in response to my request has this morning furnished me with estimate of cost of new postoffice in Lowell. He states that from information recently received, it is estimated that a two-story building covering at least 15,000 square feet ground area will be required to provide sufficient space for all branches; the cost of constructing such a building is estimated at $400,000 and the cost of a suitable site at $115,000. I shall therefore at once introduce into congress a special bill to appropriate a total of $515,000 which should be sufficient for a suitable and commodious building and a new and desirable location.

John Jacob Rogers.

The above despatch was received at The Sun office at about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Federal inspectors, through the efforts of Congressman Rogers, came to Lowell sometime ago for the purpose of investigating as to the opportunity of increasing the floor space and making more room, generally, at the local postoffice and a report made by Inspector Appleton was to the effect that the present building was inadequate and that the present site was not large enough for a new postoffice.

The report reached the postmaster general and he decided that in order to secure the required amount of space it would be necessary to erect a new building.

Assistant Secretary Sherman Allen

in conversation with Congressman Rogers a few weeks ago stated that the present site is not of sufficient size to allow the erection of a building containing the amount of workroom space recommended by the postmaster general and at the same time provide a 40-foot fire limit and also space for a future extension. Mr. Allen said the department was then obtaining the information as to the probable cost of a suitable site.

The immediate question, continued the court, "is whether the proceeding shall go on or be suspended. It is the judgment of the court that a suspension would not menace the interests of either side and in view of the fact that the governor hesitates to proceed with the extradition hearing until the status of this matter is assured I suspend it. It is not adjourned, but suspended, and I suggest that either side notify me within six days when they are prepared to go on with it."

Thaw Smiles

Thaw, smiling, sat with his eyes riveted on the judge. His lawyers were grinning. Thaw was reminded back to the joint custody of Sheriff Drew of Cook county, who arrested him after his recent deportation from Canada, and United States Marshal Nute.

"No," said Jerome; "not in view of what Mr. Morris has said. We accept his word."

"What do you propose to do, then?" insisted the judge.

Jerome hesitated.

Thaw Smiles

Thaw, smiling, sat with his eyes riveted on the judge. His lawyers were grinning. Thaw was reminded back to the joint custody of Sheriff Drew of Cook county, who arrested him after his recent deportation from Canada, and United States Marshal Nute.

"No," said Jerome; "not in view of what Mr. Morris has said. We accept his word."

"What do you propose to do, then?" insisted the judge.

Jerome hesitated.

FOUR SUICIDES IN SCHMIDT'S FAMILY

Alleged Murderer Used Forged
Certificates in Boyhood Days—
Is Charged With Counterfeiting

ASCHAFFENBURG, Germany, Sept. 16.—The parents of Johannes Schmidt, the self-confessed murderer, of Anna Ammiller, say their son is hereditarily abnormal. Several members of the family are confined in asylums for the demented and there have been four suicides in the family within the past five years.

The letters sent home by Schmidt are said by his relatives to be written in a confused and hazy style.

Local physicians consider that the murderer's perverted instincts were accentuated by forced study.

It is known that he resorted to forged certificates even during his boyhood and by their means was enabled to enter the classical high school.

SIDEWALK WORK IN GORHAM STREET

Objected to in Letter to Municipal Council—Mayor Wants a Public Parking Place for Autos

A large amount of business was brought before the municipal council at the meeting held this morning. The session was called to order a few minutes after 11 o'clock with Commissioner Cummings absent.

A hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for permission to erect two poles in Gorham street brought forth a great deal of discussion. Mr. Charles A. Wotton appeared representing several residents who objected to the granting of the petition. Letters were read from Clementine H. Bowers,

The adjourned meeting of the municipal council was called to order this afternoon at 3.35 o'clock. Col. James H. Carmichael appeared in behalf of John P. Green asking that the latter be retained from service of the city and receive half pay. A petition to this effect was brought some time ago. Mr. Green is a civil war veteran, 59 years of age and was employed by the city twenty years. Mr. Brown moved that the matter be referred to the commissioner of streets and highways who will report on the average wage earned by Mr. Green during the past two years. It was so voted.

IRON MINING INDUSTRY

Statistics Presented by
Census Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—Statistics for the iron mining industry in the United States in 1909 are presented in detail in a bulletin just issued by Director Harris of the Bureau of the census, department of commerce. It was prepared under the supervision of Isaac A. Hourwich, expert special agent for mining.

The total number of iron mines in the United States in 1909 was 483. The number of persons engaged in the industry on December 15, 1909, or nearest representative date was 25,176, of whom 52,230 were wage earners. The expenses of operation and development amounted to $74,071,530, of which the payments for salaries and wages constituted somewhat less than half. The production of iron ore in crude form was 51,947,129 tons, but some of the ore produced in New York is concentrated at the mines, and the net production, after concentration, for the country as a whole was 51,117,950 tons. The quantity used by blast furnaces at the mines or shipped from mines for use in affiliated blast furnaces at a distance or for sale was 50,521,265 tons, and its value at the mine was $106,539,874, besides which manyiferous ore and other by-products, to a value of $97,508 were produced, making the total value of products $106,917,052. The value of iron ore produced in other industries (gold and silver mining, limestone quarrying, and brick and tile manufacturing) in 1909 was reported as $125,955, which, added to the net value of ore at the iron mines ($106,539,874), gives a total value of iron ore for 1909 amounting to $106,715,529.

The Lake Superior district, which comprises Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan, and the Southern district, which comprises Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee, were the principal producing districts, the combined production of these two districts representing 91.9 per cent. of the total tonnage of ore used by the operators in their own blast furnaces or sold in the market. The predominant use of the Lake Superior district in the iron mining industry is shown conspicuously. More than four-fifths of the ore used and sold in 1909 came from this district, and the value of this ore, including by-products, represented nearly seven-eighths of the total for the country.

Leading States
In 1909 Minnesota led in the output of iron ore in the United States with a production of 28,314,713 tons, or 55 per

How to Keep Face
Young and Attractive

(National Hygienic Review.)

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations not endorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercurized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted under-skin. One ounce of this wax is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion.

Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.

decreased during the 30 years, from $3.25 to $0.82.

Practically all of the ore (95.9 per cent.) upon which royalties were paid in 1909, was mined in the Lake Superior district. The amount reported as produced under royalty in that district was 34,447,782 tons, being 81.8 per cent. of the total output of the district. The royalties paid on this ore were $14,637,205. In addition to which a small amount was paid in royalties on ore the tonnage of which was not reported separately. The average royalty per ton in the Lake Superior district was the same as in the United States taken as a whole.

The largest amount of taxes was paid in Minnesota and Michigan, the total for these two states ($2,772,000) being 55.2 per cent. of the total for the United States. The taxes in Minnesota were equal to $0.10 per ton of ore mined during the year, or to nearly $9 per acre of the land held (by ownership or lease) by the operators, and in Michigan the taxes were equal to $0.05 per ton mined, or to nearly $4 per acre held, whereas in other states the average amount of taxes ranged from $0.01 to $0.05 per ton. For all states taken together, except Minnesota and Michigan, the taxes averaged only $0.32 per acre controlled by the operators. In Minnesota less than five per cent. of the total acreage owned or held under lease was reported as known mineral land, and in Michigan only about seven per cent. The taxes on lands held under lease are ordinarily paid by the operators and not by the owners.

Wage Earners
The 10-hour working day (for all or most employees) is customary in a large majority of the iron mines of the United States, and in 1909 was the rule, without exception, in the states of Iowa, Kentucky, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Texas, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. On the other hand, the 8-hour day was reported for all mines in Utah, five mines in Alabama, six in Michigan, three in Minnesota, two in New Jersey, and one each in Pennsylvania, Virginia and Nevada.

The greatest degree of concentration of wage earners was reported from the Lake Superior district, where 10 operators with over 500 wage earners each employed 28,510, or over five-eighths of the total number of wage earners for that district. In the southern and other districts between two-fifths and one-half of all wage earners were employed by operators employing more than 500 wage earners each. On the other hand, in each district, operators employing 20 wage earners or less reported but a small percentage of the total number employed.

Form of Organization
The corporate was the predominant form of organization in iron mines, both in 1909 and 1907. During the seven years a marked absolute decrease occurred in the business of enterprises not under corporate control. Unincorporated operators reported in 1909 only a fraction of one per cent. of the value of products.

A BIG INCREASE

The School Attendance Shows Increase of 856 Over Last Year

The registration at the schools was announced this morning to be as follows:

High school, 1386; increase, 128.
Grammar schools—Total 5601. Increase, 447.
Primary schools—Total 3979. Increase, 241.
Kindergartens—Total 367. Increase, 10.

Mr. Gilman in Lowell
Mr. Gilman, author of the writing books, was in Lowell on Monday and had a conference with the teachers whom the superintendent appointed as a committee on writing. Other meetings are to be held at which Mr. Gilman will endeavor to give the schools all possible assistance in getting the work under way. His next meeting will be Monday, Sept. 22, at the High school, at 4:15 p. m., when he will meet teachers of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. It is likely that the number of these teachers will be so large that it will be necessary to separate them into two classes.

Transfer Pupils
There is a little crowding in some of the primary schools of the city and it will be imperative in all probability to send some of the pupils who are now in the crowded schools to other buildings where the numbers are smaller. Even if this should cause some temporary inconvenience a little consideration will show that such a change would be for the good and advantage of the pupils. It is needless to say that those in charge of the schools will not willingly cause either children or their parents any unnecessary inconvenience.

The Chief Advantage of
Crawford
Boilers

over other boilers is that they heat the houses they are rated to heat;—you don't have to get the "next larger size." A fact worth noting.

These Boilers give more heat per pound of coal than others and cost less in repairs. They are simplicity itself in operation, are guaranteed for zero weather efficiency and save fuel and labor.

There are no packed joints, sheet iron parts or brick linings in these Boilers, and the "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors are found in no others. They are a gilt edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care.

COUNTY'S RENT BOOSTED

Commissioners Vote to Pay City of Lowell $2950 a Year for Use of Market Street Building

At a meeting of the county commissioners held at East Cambridge this morning it was voted to allow the city of Lowell $2950 a year more for rental than is being paid at the present time and hereafter the county will pay $2950 a year instead of $2400.

Commissioner Cummings and Inspector Connor were present at the meeting, the matter of the increase in rent having been delegated to Mr. Cummings by the municipal council.

Besides agreeing to pay the increase in rent, the county commissioners also voted to take a ten year lease.

Inasmuch as the local police court is a district court the county pays rental to the city and in view of the recent improvements in the Market street building, including the installation of fireproof vaults, more room and better sanitary conditions it was agreed that the county should pay more rent and the matter has been satisfactorily adjusted.

Soiled Clothing Is Cleaned Best With Carbonol.

CARBONOL is a powerful disinfectant and a few teaspoonfuls of it in the tub will help greatly in the cleaning. It will kill all germs; remove stains and make the work easier.

That, however, is only one use of Carbonol. Carbonol has many other uses. It is more necessary to the housekeeper than soap. It will do all the work that soap can do and a great deal more, because it has the power to kill germs and dissolve grease.

It should be used in general house-cleaning. A dash of it in the water that you use in scrubbing floors and washing down woodwork will make every drop of water an effective disinfectant.

In the kitchen it will help in cleaning greasy dishes and pans, and it will keep the waste pipes clear of grease. It will suppress odors in garbage and keep away the flies; it will clean the garbage can after it has been emptied; it will remove stains on woodwork or cloth; brighten dingy rugs.

In case of contagious diseases Carbonol should be used constantly and frequently to wash sickroom utensils and all bed linen and clothing of the patient.

The uses of this powerful product are simply endless.

We will send a free sample to experiment with and a booklet of directions for its use.

$650,000 JEWEL FOUND

Necklace Picked up on Sidewalk in London Today Was Stolen on July 16

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A workman yesterday found on a sidewalk practically the entire pearl necklace valued at $650,000 which was stolen on July 16 while in transit by mail from Paris to London.

The man going to work in Highbury, a northern district of London, noticed the pearls lying in a heap. On picking them up he found there were 58. He took them to the nearest police station where they were at once recognized as part of the famous necklace, from which only one pearl is now missing.

On Sept. 2 five men, three Englishmen and two Austrians, were arrested when trying to dispose of some of the pearls in London. They were believed by the police to belong to a notorious international gang of thieves.

Pearls Identified
The robbery of the necklace from the registered mail was cleverly done. The postal seals on the original packet when it was delivered to the London dealer did not appear to have been disturbed but when it was opened it was found to contain instead of the jewels only some pieces of loaf sugar. These were cut in the way usual in France and it was thought by the police that the pearls had been extracted before leaving that country, but it was later suggested that the thieves may have resorted to this subterfuge to lead the police on the wrong scent.

Later today the package of pearls found by the workman was taken by him, in company with detectives to police headquarters at Scotland Yard, where Max Javel, the diamond merchant who owns them, was called by telephone and immediately identified them.

MODERN HOTEL MISS DEVINE'S PLAY

Lowell Inn on Central St. to Become First Class Hostelry

Plans for the renovation, improvement and general alteration of the Lowell Inn in Central street have been perfected and the necessary permits were taken out at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall this forenoon. The plans were prepared by Architect Henry L. Bourke.

The Lowell Inn, at 12-21 Central street, is one of the oldest hostels in Lowell and was owned and managed for several years by Thomas F. Hoban, proprietor of the Richardson hotel.

Mr. Hoban sold the Lowell Inn to Frank E. Harris and the latter took possession several months ago.

In a statement to The Sun when he took possession of the Lowell Inn, Mr. Harris said he intended to make of it a modern, up-to-date hotel in every respect and the plans as prepared by the architect go to show that Mr. Harris meant just what he said.

The building will be changed and renovated from top to bottom. Only the side walls will be left standing; and they will be reinforced with steel. The foundation will be deepened and strengthened and the building will have an entire new front and will be six stories high, which will mean an addition of two stories.

On the first floor will be the office, bar, lunch room and grill room, while the second floor will be devoted entirely to dining rooms, public and private.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth floors will be devoted entirely to sleeping rooms with baths. Mr. Harris believes in private baths and the plans call for a bath in every room. The cost of the work is estimated at about $250,000.

IS IN GREAT DEMAND THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY—IT MAY CONVERT MRS. PANKHURST

Miss Devine has issued several permits for the production of her woman suffrage drama, one being as far south as Louisiana; one in Kentucky, and one for Winchester in this state.

It is probable that Mrs. Pankhurst, the militant suffragette of England will be asked to attend the performance at Winchester.

Many of the friends of woman suffrage believe that the play may convert Mrs. Pankhurst to the adoption of appealing to public opinion by moral suasion in seeking the right to vote.

Miss Devine has had her play copyrighted and judging from the inquiries she has received from many distant states, the woman suffragists seem to have heard of its merits. It is the Uncle Tom's Cabin of the suffrage movement in this country. It appeals not to children, but to mature readers with logical arguments that are overwhelming in their force.

Revere Collector to Sue Assessors

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Another chapter has been opened in the troubles of the town officials of Revere, past and present, by the filing of an attachment for $8000 in the Suffolk registry of deeds against the real estate of Samuel A. Segee and Charles H. Bates. The latter respondent is still chairman of the board of assessors, while Mr. Segee is the deposed member of the board, with a three years' sentence hanging over his head, pending an appeal to the supreme court on exceptions.

Enjoyed Delightful Lawn Party on Grounds Surrounding House of Mrs. Carlin at No. Chelmsford

The tastefully kept grounds surrounding the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlin of North Chelmsford held a large number of Daughters of Veterans and their friends Saturday afternoon and evening who enjoyed themselves on that estate with a delightful lawn party.

Just as the day was going a fine supper was served on the lawn, of which everybody partook with a relish. The ladies in charge were: Mrs. Catherine Cashin, Mrs. Fred Fletcher, Mrs. Alice Phelps, Mrs. Mary Mack, Mrs. Alice Welch, Mrs. Lois Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Worden and Miss Wilbur.

Self Help

For Nervous Persons

Can often be achieved by a simple change of food and drink.

Much nervousness is caused by coffee drinking—eminent medical authorities having demonstrated that the coffee drug, caffeine, is a definite nerve poison to many persons.

Coffee has no food value whatever, and is a deceitful friend. Under its use the nerves first become irritated; then so sensitive and "on edge" that a slight variation from general health often appears most serious to its victim.

However, Nature responds quickly to common-sense treatment, and right living frequently does more than medicine. So, if you value peace and comfort, try this easy experiment.

Stop coffee entirely and have hot, well-made

POSTUM

This pure food-drink made from prime wheat has a Java-like, flavor and a fine dark brown color which changes to rich golden brown when cream is added.

It contains the genuine nourishing elements of the grain, but is absolutely free from the coffee drug, or any other harmful ingredient.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum must be well boiled.

Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A spoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and with cream and sugar, makes a very palatable beverage instantly.

Thousands have been wonderfully benefited by using Postum instead of coffee—

WANT CARS TO GO SLOW

As Result of Accidents at "Death Crossing"

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—As a result of two persons being instantly killed by speeding electric cars within six years at "death crossing," corner of Mystic avenue and Main street, Medford, and the expected death of little Thomas Barry, four years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Barry of 122 Main street, Medford, who was struck by an inbound Boston & Northern car yesterday in front of his home, the citizens in that vicinity will demand that the cars proceed slow while passing the dangerous crossing.

James Higgins, the 5-year-old Centralville boy who was run over and badly injured by an automobile, died shortly after 10 o'clock last night at St. John's hospital. The body was removed to his home, 134 Lakeview avenue.

PROGRESS ON CURRENCY

Measure Nearing Completion in House

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—With the legislative machinery working smoothly, the administration currency bill rolled steadily toward completion yesterday under detailed consideration in the house. A chorus of democratic "noes" quickly disposed of the numerous efforts of republicans and progressives to alter the provisions of the measure as agreed on by the democratic caucus. Not a single material amendment was voted into the bill.

The debate bristled with charges of "tag law" and "caucus rule" from the minority with occasional sympathetic replies from the democratic side, but when the vote was needed the line held firm behind Chairman Glass of the banking and currency committee. Representative Mondell of Wyoming and Progressive Leader Murdock devoted considerable time to pleading with the democrats "to break the shackles" and desert the caucus pledge. Mr. Mondell became involved in a spirited controversy with Representative Stanley of Kentucky who had something to say about republican caucus action. Representative Donovan, democrat of Connecticut, joined with Representative Murdock in one of his attacks, declaring that the leaders had abandoned the currency bill to the new members of the house.

"Not more than half a quorum is here," he shouted. "They draw their pay regularly and abandon the work attached to their positions. This is nothing more than stealing."

A rapid fire of amendments was directed by the majority against the section of the bill providing that national banks must subscribe a sum equal to 20 per cent of their capital in the federal reserve bank in their district. Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota endeavored to make the subscription 10 per cent of the capital and surplus and allow the banks 30 days in which to pay one-half of their subscriptions. Under his amendment the federal reserve banks would have been allowed to begin business as soon as the full $5,000,000 capital had been subscribed without waiting for full payment. The amendment was voted down, 78 to 29. Several similar amendments were defeated.

An attempt was made to write into the bill a provision forbidding officers or directors in national banks from holding similar places in other national banks or in any other financial institutions. The democrats stood by the caucus and the amendment was rejected 71 to 44.

Another flood of amendments designed to curtail the power of the federal reserve agent, named by the bill as the chairman of the board of directors and the representative of the federal reserve board in each federal reserve bank also was defeated.

A few changes in phraseology accepted by Chairman Glass were the only amendments adopted.

THREE TAKEN IN RAID

Gang of Alleged Confidence Men Caught

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Three men were arrested here yesterday in a raid, part of a police program to break up a gang of confidence operators who, the police say, have swarmed tourists to Washington out of many thousands in the last two years.

The three men gave their names as E. B. Daubney of Boston, John McGeehan of Newark and Henry Wood of New York. On Daubney were found a number of cards inscribed Edwin B. Dent, Los Angeles, Cal.

Early yesterday, the police say, they saw Wood scrape an acquaintance with a stranger near the Senate Office building. The stranger says Wood told him he was an official guide, and led him to the Washington monument to join Daubney and McGeehan.

10,000 STRIKE

Considerable Suffering Among Poorer Classes in Dublin, Ireland

DUBLIN, Ireland, Sept. 16.—Over ten thousand men have joined in the strike movement started by the transport workers here and the building and other trades are greatly affected. It is estimated by the leaders that unless peace between the men and the employers is soon reached six thousand more men will be thrown out of work as their labor depends on that of the men now on strike. There is considerable suffering among the poorer classes both in the Irish capital and in other towns of the south of Ireland, owing to the rise in the price of food, which is brought about by the lack of transportation facilities. A number of vessels laden with commodities are lying in dock here unable to discharge their cargoes.

LOWELL MAN CHOSEN

Member of Committee at A. F. of L. Convention

FALL RIVER, Sept. 16.—The 23rd annual convention of the Massachusetts branch, American Federation of Labor was opened in this city yesterday with the largest number of delegates in attendance in its history, and the first convention day was brought to a close last night with the annual grand convention ball, at which 1500 persons were present.

The day's proceedings, given over largely to officers' reports, indicated a healthy condition as to membership and finances. The state branch was shown to have gained 121 affiliated unions during the year and lost none and to have a clear balance of more than $2000 in the treasury despite a new financial burden of $1500 due to the creation of the office of permanent secretary.

Running through the addresses and reports of the day was condemnation of Gov. Foss for his attitude toward organized labor; and to a like extent the speakers condemned the industrial Workers of the World and their methods.

A resolutions committee was appointed to have charge of the preparation of the resolutions to be acted upon by the convention as follows: Frank H. McCarthy, Boston; Samuel Ross, New Bedford; George Johnson, Boston; John P. Meade, Brockton; Charles G. Andrews, Lowell; Francis P. Morse, Boston; J. T. Bleasius, Holyoke.

After Mayor James H. Kay had told the delegates in his address of welcome to the city that they could "go far as you like in the matter of entertainment," an attempt was made to rearrange the convention hours so that the delegates might take advantage of the mayor's permit. The proposition to suspend the afternoon session so that the delegates might see the city and "have a good time" met with spirited objections and after warm debate it was finally voted that the hours provided for in the constitution for convention sessions be followed—morning sessions from 9 to noon, and afternoon sessions from 2 to 5.

Ohio Tennis Champion CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 16.—Charles O. (Chick) Benton of this city won the Ohio tennis championship yesterday in the men's final, defeating A. F. Reed, also of this city, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2.

Fred Harris of Brattleboro, Vt., the champion, was sick and unable to participate in a challenge round.

IN SUCH PAIN

WOMAN TORE HER CLOTHES

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Malone, N. Y.,—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a lot of good. A friend of mine when I was a girl and always said that if I overcame my trouble I would take it."

"I suffered from organic inflammation and would have sworn when I would be in such pain that I would tear my clothes. One day my husband got the neighbors in to see what the matter was but they could not help me. My first thought was for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sent my husband out for it and took it until I was entirely cured. I am a woman of perfect health and my health and happiness came from Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. You may rest assured that I do all I can to recommend your wonderful medicine to my friends."—Mrs. Fred Stone, Route No. 3, Malone, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

LONG-PLOTTED REVENGE

Detailed Denial of Mulhall's Charges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The defense of the National Association of Manufacturers to the charges of a checkered and improper political career in Washington and elsewhere and made by its former "lobbyist," Martin M. Mulhall, was concluded last night by James A. Emery, chief agent of the association in the capital. For nearly three hours Emery addressed the house lobby committee. He made a detailed denial of Mulhall's charges that the association packed congressional committees, that it campaigned at great expense to elect its favored congressional friends and that it spent several hundred thousand dollars in "lobby work" through Mulhall himself.

Emery pointed to the testimony of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor before the committee to show that the manufacturers merely opposed the ideas of labor-favoring legislation which Mr. Gompers and the unionists campaigned so vigorously to get from congress.

Referring to Mulhall himself, Emery surmised in condemnation any of the public men who during the investigation, have attacked the lobbyist's remarkable story.

"The evidence before this committee conclusively demonstrates that the character of Mulhall destroys every right to believe him, nor is his written word worth more than his oral statement," said he. "By the evidence which he has himself produced, he portrays himself as assailing with incredible impartiality those for whom he professes gratitude, equally with those who are the evident objects of malicious and long-plotted revenge."

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Issues Bulletin on Retail Prices of Food From 1890 to June 1913—Most Articles Have Advanced

Bulletin No. 132 just issued by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics shows retail prices of the principal articles of food in each of forty important industrial cities throughout the United States. This bulletin is one of the bureau's regular series on retail prices. It shows actual prices for May and June 1913 and May and June 1912 and also summarizes retail prices for the period from 1890 to June 1913.

The cities for which actual prices are shown are Atlanta, Ga.; Baltimore, Md.; Birmingham, Ala.; Boston, Mass.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Charleston, S. C.; Chicago, Ill.; Cincinnati, O.; Cleveland, O.; Dallas, Tex.; Denver, Colo.; Detroit, Mich.; Fall River, Mass.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Kansas City, Mo.; Little Rock, Ark.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Louisville, Ky.; Manchester, N. H.; Memphis, Tenn.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Newark, N. J.; New Haven, Conn.; New Orleans, La.; New York, N. Y.; Omaha, Neb.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Portland, Ore.; Providence, R. I.; Richmond, Va.; St. Louis, Mo.; St. Paul, Minn.; Salt Lake City, Utah; San Francisco, Cal.; Scranton, Pa.; Seattle, Wash.; and Washington, D. C.

Comparing retail prices on June 15, 1913, with prices on the same date in 1912, 11 of the 15 articles for which quotations are given advanced and 4 declined. Price, Bacon advanced 15.2 per cent; beef, canned ham advanced 14.1 per cent; pork chops advanced 13.1 per cent; hens advanced 11.8 per cent; eggs advanced 11.7 per cent; round steak advanced 10.1 per cent; sirloin steak advanced 9.8 per cent; lamb advanced 7.2 per cent; rib roast advanced 6.8 per cent; butter advanced 5.8 per cent; and milk advanced 4.1 per cent. Potatoes declined 31.9 per cent; sugar declined 15.2 per cent; wheat flour declined 7.7 per cent; and corn meal declined 3.9 per cent.

Comparing retail prices on June 15, 1913, with average prices for the ten-year period, 1899 to 1909, every article for which prices are carried, with the exception of sugar, advanced. Bacon advanced 125.5 per cent; pork chops advanced 102.5 per cent; round steak advanced 84 per cent; smoked ham advanced 75.2 per cent; sirloin steak advanced 75.2 per cent; rib roast advanced 75 per cent; lamb advanced 66.5 per cent; corn meal advanced 57.3 per cent; potatoes advanced 44.4 per cent; butter advanced 41.3 per cent; eggs advanced 40.8 per cent; milk advanced 38.4 per cent; and flour advanced 35.6 per cent. Sugar declined 8 per cent.

When the price of each of the 15 articles of food is weighted according to average consumption in working-men's families, retail prices were at a higher level on June 15, 1913, than at any other time during the last 12-1/2 years, excepting on November 15, 1912, when the level was slightly above that of June 15, 1913. Retail prices of food on June 15, 1913, were 32.2 per cent above the average price for the ten-year period 1899 to 1909; 2.3 per cent above the price on June 15, 1912, and 14.4 per cent above the price on June 15, 1911.

CHARGE OF KILLING WIFE BURNS PROVED FATAL

Dr. Smith Tried Again for Murder Aged Woman Died at St. John's Hospital

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Charged with the murder of his first wife, Florence Caville Smith, by poisoning, Dr. Arthur B. Smith was placed on trial here yesterday for the second time. The first trial resulted in a failure of the jury to reach a verdict. Dr. Smith has been held in jail without bail since early last November.

Dr. Smith was arrested last fall just as he returned from his honeymoon trip in New England, where he had married Miss Mabel Merchant, a trained nurse, whose parents reside at Newton Centre, Mass. Dr. Smith had always maintained that the prosecution against him was instigated by relatives of his first wife because of his marriage to the second Mrs. Smith within a few weeks after the death of his first wife.

Miss Merchant for some time previous to her marriage to Dr. Smith, had been employed at the Springfield hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Navin, aged 72 years, who was terribly burned yesterday afternoon while trying to light a gas range in her home at 10 West Ninth street, died at 1:15 o'clock this morning at St. John's hospital.

She was standing over the range with a lighted match in her hand when in some way the blaze flamed up and spread to her clothing, burning over a part of her body before it could be extinguished. The ambulance was called and she was taken to St. John's hospital where everything possible was done to relieve her suffering. It being known from the beginning that she could not recover.

Hartford — Lowell Club is Now

The greatest question just now before the local sporting public is, "who will win the Lowell-Hartford series?" Hartford fans and baseball critics in the Connecticut city pick Hartford as the logical winner but, knowing the Lowell club, individually and collectively as we do we can hardly concede a victory to the winners of the Eastern Association flag.

This statement is not meant to reflect in the slightest upon our opponents in the series. Hartford has a grand ball club in fact the greatest that the city has ever turned out. But we are of the opinion that no club of its class in the country can send our team down to defeat.

The Lowell club won the pennant by their finish. Out of the last 22 games played in the league season 20 of them were victories. A team that can put up an exhibition of baseball such as this at the close of a season's work is in the best of condition.

Hartford has a quartet of first grade hitters leading off for them. Curry, second baseman, leads the order with Hoffman, left field, Kauff, right field and Hoy, center, coming directly after him. These four men have been a

ZIESER, HALSTEIN, MILLER AND MAGEE, THE LUCKY ONES—WILL STAY HERE FOR SERIES

Four Lowell players were obtained by major league clubs yesterday at the meeting of the National Baseball Commission held in Cincinnati yesterday. It was expected that all four of these players would go by the draft route after the season had gone by without bids being made for them.

Zieser is the only pitcher who was snapped up by the "big show." The Red Sox have drafted "Matty" and he will report to their spring training camp next season. Zieser has always said that he would rather play ball with the Boston Americans than any other major league club and was greatly pleased when he learned of his draft.

Halstein and Magee will don the uniforms of the Chicago White Sox as soon as the series between Lowell and Hartford are finished. Scout Miller has been watching both men perform all season and simply held off because no other club seemed to be looking either man over. If another club had been after either or both of these players the Lowell management would doubtless have made a small pot of money out of their sale.

Miller is the fourth player of the quartet who will go higher another season. Eddie has been snapped up at the draft figure by the St. Louis Americans with whom he tacked on at the first part of this season. Miller has improved wonderfully this year both with the club and in his fielding and has acquired another year's experience to help him along with the major league company.

Lowell fans, and for that matter, the fans all around the circuit would not be greatly surprised to see all four players stick with the big league. Every player is a New England league celebrity and will carry the well wishes of the entire circuit with him when he leaves Lowell for his "fight by draft."

Killed With Son in Arms

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 15.—Running for a train at the Upper Maine Central station yesterday with his son in his arms, Charles Agnewcourt, aged 35, slipped on the car steps and rolled under the wheels. He was so badly mangled that he died later at the hospital. The boy escaped with slight injuries. Agnewcourt was taking the lad to a school for the deaf in Portland. He leaves a widow and four children.

Giants and Phillies to Finish Aug. 30 Game

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 15.—Making a precedent, the board of directors of the National League last night ordered the game that was played between the New York and Philadelphia National League clubs on August 30, finished on October 2 with the same men in the field and the same status existing that existed on the day the umpire, Brennan, awarded the game to New York on account of the spectators allegedly interfering with the batters.

The time the game was called in the ninth inning there was a man on base, one man out and a ball on the batter with the score standing 5 to 6 in favor of Philadelphia. This same situation, with the same men in the field and at the bat is ordered to be produced again and the game finished.

REFUSED TO MEET BROOKS

Fred Yelle Could Not Agree to Weight

Question—Fred Yelle Substituted

—Has Good Record

Owing to a disagreement in the weight question Fred Yelle has refused to meet Terry Brooks. The matchmaker has secured the services of Freddy Duffy of Jamaica Plain to oppose Brooks. Duffy needs no introduction to Lowell fans. Just a glance at Duffy's record will show that he has fought the best boys in the country. He has victories to his credit over Ray Wood, Billy Nixon, Kid Sealer, Joe Egan, Joe Sherman, Joe Thomas, of New Orleans. Duffy's two greatest achievements were a draw with Owen Moran of England and a draw with Jack Britton. Duffy fought a draw with Owen Moran at Fall River two years ago in a bout of twelve rounds. Duffy surprised New York sporting fans by holding Jack Britton to a ten round draw in Brooklyn. Duffy will meet one of the most aggressive boys in the ring. He administered one of the worst defeats to Young Jasper that this sterling lightweight ever received. He has also a victory to his credit over Frankie Mack, and has in turn been defeated by Mack. Barney Williams of Lawrence will try and lower the colors of Benny Burke of South Boston in the semi-final two good six-round preliminaries will complete the card.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Maples would like very much to arrange a series of games with the Shamrocks and Glenmores for the championship of the city, or to sign up with the winner of the Shamrock-Glenmores series which is to be played at Lincoln. The Lincoln are also mentioned in the challenge. Please reply through this paper or telephone 2339-M.

The following was unsigned and consequently are uninformed as to its source. However, we will print it and let Gardiner and O'Brien use their own judgment. Here it is: "Mr. Gardiner of the Shamrocks is advised not to report Saturday because he will not be allowed to play as O'Brien will play first." This, from the wording, has the earmarks of a health hint for Mr. Gardiner.

The manager of the Shamrocks would like to meet the manager of the Glenmores Wednesday night at 8 o'clock to arrange for the series.

The St. Columbas defeated the Shamrocks Saturday by the score of 6 to 4. The St. Columbas would like to play the Glenmores next Saturday. The feature of the game was the fanning of the fingers on the Shamrock team.

Bill Carrigan Injured

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Bill Carrigan, manager and catcher of the Boston Red Sox, will, in all probability, not be able to play in another game this season.

In the seventh inning of yesterday's game the middle finger of his right hand was badly broken when he caught a thrown ball. The break was near the first joint of the finger, and is said to be a bad one.

Three Lowell Athletes Leave This
Week — Carter to Mercersburg
—Cawley and Bailey to Colby

Three of the greatest athletes ever turned out by the local high school will leave this week to take up their advanced studies and "incidentally" athletics. There is not a shadow of a doubt that all three boys can make whatever branch of athletics they attempt.

"Charlie" Carter enters Mercersburg academy in Pennsylvania this fall. Carter has been one of the mainstays was in town the other day and called upon both of these athletes at the instigation of the sporting department of The Sun. Daily is now head coach at Colby and his arguments in favor of his adopted college induced both boys to take their examinations for the institution.

Cawley and Bailey will leave tomorrow for Waterville and will at once take their examinations for entrance in athletics at the high school for the past four years. Football, baseball and track have all been taken up by this athlete and he has achieved more than a local reputation in each sport. In fact all of the leading "prep" schools in this part of the country have been trying to land Charlie, but he left yesterday for Mercersburg and will at once don his moleskins for the early fall football training.

Eddie Cawley and "Helm" Bailey will go to Colby college in Waterville, Me. Eddie Daly, ex-captain of the Dartmouth football and baseball teams,

There is no question but what both will "make it" with diving colors. Both boys will get into football teams as soon as they have matriculated and there is no doubt in the minds of anyone who has ever seen either perform on the gridiron but what they can catch on with the Colby outfit.

Carter played last year. Cawley was captain of the team and fullback and Bailey was a half back. All three men made a big inter-scholastic reputation for themselves and, barring injuries, will go far in the college realm of sport.

THE EIGHT HOUR MINOR LAW

So far as can be judged at the present time the new eight hour law will prove a positive injury instead of a benefit to minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age, the class it was intended "to protect."

In the first place it has thrown them out of work and deprived their families of the needed assistance of their earnings. The result of this change is, in hundreds of cases quite serious, because it deprives not only the minors themselves but other children in the family of the proper sustenance they should receive. Besides, instead of going to school, the vast majority of the boys and girls thus thrown out of work are found roaming the streets. They had abandoned school and parental authority is not strong enough to force them to return, except in a very small proportion of cases.

It will be admitted that from fourteen to sixteen is a very critical age to have boys and girls on the street. It is an undeniable fact, considering the circumstances, that their well being, both physical and moral, would be much better subserved if they were at work.

But through the behest of sociologists and others who raised a false cry of "child labor in the mills," the legislature in its wisdom or the reverse, has enacted this law and already it has worked serious detriment to the minors it was intended to save from the alleged hardships of a ten hour day. The sociologists apparently did not consider the high cost of living or the difficulty the poor man with a large family has had to contend with in keeping the wolf from the door during the last four years.

The legislature has made a serious blunder in putting such a law on the statute books and the sooner it is repealed the better for the people and particularly for the minors themselves.

The manufacturers cannot be blamed for refusing to chop up their schedule of working hours. They have to compete with those of other states in which no such restrictions are imposed; and hence it is reasonable to assume that any disarrangement of the working hours will operate as a serious handicap. Already some legislators are heard to threaten that they will give the mills an eight hour day for all classes of help, young and old. That would put the local factories out of business, because they could not compete with mills working ten hours a day or over and paying lower wages than prevail in Lowell.

It would be well if the legislature would repeal this act and then let the mills alone for a while. The statutes had already provided ample protection against any abuse of minors, or any form of child labor calculated to stunt the growth of children or to injure their morals. Perhaps this is a case where many of the mill people can have but a choice of evils—whether it is better to work for a living or go idle and feel the pangs of hunger.

The legislative committee which will give a hearing here on Thursday will not hear the facts as they exist from the heads of families who have already felt the injurious effect of this law. If the hearing be held in the evening some of the men affected might appear, but very few are going before the committee to say that the law has put their families on short allowance and sent their boys and girls to the street at an age when they require not only nourishing food but also comfortable dress together with a little spending money. If minors cannot earn any money to supply these needs, some of them in the absence of proper restraint are liable to adopt less commendable means of getting what they want.

The committee will hear from politicians, many of them candidates who have suddenly evinced a great interest in the tollers; but they will not hear of the worst effects of this pernicious law passed as a compromise for bills of a different kind and calculated to subject the minors affected to privation and danger of demoralization from the evil associations and the temptations incident to a life of idleness spent on the streets and the commons if not in places much worse.

PICK THE BEST CANDIDATES

With the primaries but a week ahead it is time the voters were beginning to sort out the candidates for whom they will vote. It is to be hoped that the voters will exercise some discriminating judgment in selecting candidates for the various offices. If two, three or more candidates seek nomination for the same office, it is the voter's duty to support the one who is the most honest, most capable and most likely to serve the interests of his constituents. The man who helps to send a grafter or a nincompoop to the legislature is not doing his duty to himself, to his city, his district or to the state. Lowell should be represented by able and progressive men who will measure up to the average legislator on Beacon hill. If it is found that any man voted against the interests of the people, turn him down even if you have to take up a new man who may not be much better. Once the members of the legislature understand that they will be held to strict accountability by the people, they will be more watchful not to run counter to the rights of their constituency. Whether they are good or bad, they reflect the judgment of the constituency that elects them. Send your best men to fight your battles in the general court, so that your rights and interests may be duly safeguarded and protected against the loss of special privilege and against alleged reforms that make conditions worse instead of better.

It is true that this year the Boston papers gave Lowell credit for sending to the legislature one man who had few equals and no superior in either branch, referring to Senator Fisher. The Westford man fully deserved that high tribute. Senator Draper also proved a very useful man along other lines and there were Lowell members of the lower branch who did conscientious work. The voters at the primaries next Tuesday should reward the good by re-nomination and retire the undesirable by selecting new and better men to take their places.

ABOLISH THE GRADE CROSSINGS

The municipal board has the approval of the people in moving for the abolition of the grade crossings on Middlesex street and Fletcher street. Both crossings are a serious obstruction to business and to regularity in the electric car service, not to speak of the danger of accidents. No progressive city in Massachusetts nowadays tolerates any grade crossing that it can have abolished. It is about twenty years since the board of trade of this city formulated plans for the abolition of the crossing at Middlesex street and even at that time the Boston and Maine company seemed ready to act if the matter were forced upon it. At present the company pleads for time on account of financial embarrassment. That claim is doubtless well founded; but there is no ground for saying that there is no public demand for the abolition of grade crossings in this city.

The people of this city have for some time past expected work to start upon the removal of these crossings and the construction of a new depot and as in many other cases were disappointed. They have been led to believe as a result of statements by officials and surveys by engineers that the company intended to start the work next year. The statement of their attorneys, however, that the company wants the work put off indefinitely comes as a surprise to the people of Lowell.

After spending a large amount in Lynn to remove a crossing not a whit more dangerous than the crossing at Middlesex street, it would seem but reasonable that after twenty years of dicker and delay the company would get around to do something for Lowell. The municipal board should push the matter. If the company has not the funds necessary, it may be able to secure authority to issue debenture bonds sufficient to meet this necessary expense.

NEW RULES ON THE NEW HAVEN

The New Haven road will be sustained by public opinion in every reasonable rule it makes to prevent accidents and promote the safety of the passengers. Already it appears that some of the firemen and engineers are raising objections to certain modifications of the rules calculated to prevent such disasters as occurred at Stamford, Westport, and Wallingford of late. President Elliott should have something to say about the rules necessary to make good his promise that the New Haven road is to be the safest in the country.

THAW'S SANITY

Harry Thaw will never get free while he has a dollar to spend in fighting for his freedom. If Governor Fisher of New Hampshire would call a commission to investigate Thaw's sanity, he could probably find high authority to counteract the finding of the New York alienists. The vast majority of people believe that Thaw is not insane now and that he was not insane when committed to Matteawan asylum. But with all he has gone through it is really surprising that he has not been driven insane.

Commissioner Barrett makes the statement that there are no typhoid germs in the city water. In this he may be entirely correct, although we do not believe the statement is worth much except based on expert testimony. It is not much of a compliment for city water, however, to say that it has no typhoid germs, while its taste and color betray the presence of various other impurities.

Chief Whitney of the district police is the state censor on moving pictures, but although he means to be quite strict, occasionally he lets a very objectionable picture get by. We have had a couple of cases in which the picture must have escaped his notice. On the whole, however, the "movies" are not of the big-sinful kind so common in the beginning.

Seen and Heard

A witty judge of the municipal court of Boston today declared that "a patient was a man who refused to button his wife's lingerie waist."

"A martyr," he went on, "is one who attempts and fails, while a hero tries and succeeds."

"Then what is a coward?" asked a curious bystander.

"Oh, a coward," replied the judge, "is a man who remains single so he won't have to try."

She looked like a real old southern mammy, and when she appeared before Judge Marsh in the Stapleton police court over on State street, she was undoubtedly in a charge of assault and battery against her niece and master, her speech did not belie her appearance according to Lippincott's. A bottle of gin had been the cause of all the trouble, she said, and added that her husband was drunk most of the time. After listening patiently to a long tale of intemperance, Judge Marsh remarked to the defendant: "If your wife says is true, I should imagine you to be a rather bilious person."

"Bilious?" asked the old woman. "Ah, but you know, my husband was a little bit of a drinker, but he was a good man, and what's more, he ain't got no stomach."

Winking and trying to flirt with married women on the streets in Cambridgeport, St. Louis, is considered an adventure, and as a result the local tailors, doctors and clothing stores have profited largely by his escapade.

Several men, whose wives had told them of having been flirted with by the young man, got together and asked the stranger to go with them to meet a very nice-looking young woman who admired him very much, and who had expressed a desire to meet him. He accompanied them. When they got on a dark street in the edge of town the woman was presented and introduced to the stranger. When he looked at her, he pulled off her disguise, accused the stranger of having flirted with his wife and began shooting.

The travelling man called for help and immediately began running in the direction of the hotel. He came to a fence, but this did not stop him and he kept running until he came to a farmhouse about half a mile from town. He ran into the house with his clothes torn and his hands and face bleeding from the effects of the collision with the wire fence.

No persuasions could get him from the house, and it was only after the man who was disguised as the young woman had come and told him it was all a joke, could he be persuaded to return to the hotel. The man sells pianos and the next morning he was in good humor and enjoying the joke, but he says that he now realizes a small town is no place to make too good eyes at married women.—Kansas City Star.

THE SCHOOLBOY

The noble band of Avon, writing of this earthly stage And those that here perform their parts puts in the second age Of man the whining schoolboy, with his sullen, sulking morning face. Who looks upon the schoolhouse as a sort of torture place. Could William from his bleating old sarcophagus arise His notion of the schoolboy he would certainly revise And to the younger of today A eulogistic tribute pay.

Unlike the youths and maidens in the time when William wrote Who looked upon book learning as a thing that got their goat. The twentieth century juvenile exhibits his as a rule Devotion to his studies and a passion for his school. He finds a charm seductive in the Ho worshiping rules of grammar and adores the rule of three, And when he hears the schoolbell ring He feels as happy as a king.

So at this solemn moment when we hear the warning bell Ring out the summer holidays with dull funereal dirge. Instead of whining sullenly and crawling like a snail The kid, alert and joyous for the schoolhouse hits the trail. All honor to the teacher who thus plainly illustrates The rapid march of progress in these swift United States.

Arise, then, Bill. Tis never too late To set your sullen face straight. —Arthur G. Burgoyne, in Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegram.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Engineer's Complaint

New York World: The reply of the engineers of the New Haven road to the complaint that the rules of the Brotherhood interfere with efficiency is as good as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough.

Other railroad corporations do business with the Brotherhood and manage in one way or another to keep competent men in their engines without overworking them, and without trusting to luck to save themselves and the traveling public from frequent smash-ups.

In transportation, as in other enterprises that are well conducted, dangerous or mischievous tendencies are corrected when they appear, and are not permitted to run on to inevitable disaster.

Taking Chances on Steam

Courier-Clifton: Taking chances and running by signals continue to cause most of the serious mishaps on the coast. It is in New England, and the collision at Tyrope on the Pennsylvania in which 153 persons were injured was due to similar negligence. This is the "human factor" which so often enters into train wrecks. Sometimes there may be an automatic device to prevent such disasters, but meanwhile it is up to engine crews to be exceedingly careful in train-running.

Are All Police Alike?

Lawrence Telegram: This country so likes to indulge in superlatives that the suspicion is growing abroad that perhaps the New York police are not quite so good as they are often compared with the police of other world centers.

Of late the London "tabby" has put in a claim for recognition as "some of the best" of new comers toward the Paris police as entrants in the contest for the prize as the greatest police gratifiers in the world.

Paris has been told by J. Leprieux, secretary of her police force, that the Parisian police gratifiers outdo Becker and overshadow anything of the kind in any city in the world.

So the Parisians are now covered by the old question of who will win the watchers. And they are advocating that from the corps of detectives some shall be selected who shall watch the others. That seems a futile plan.

But Paris police are not so bad. It may be a case of the Parisian being jealous of the advertising New York has received and desires to get part of it for her own police force.

Wilding New Hampshire

Pistol Enterprise: It has been the custom in the United States senate in the past for a senator to be jealous of the good name of his own state, and when it is asked to seek to vindicate its honor. This would seem the honorable thing to do, but with the advent of Henry F. Hollis to the senate a notable exception to this rule is seen. He came at liberty to vilify and malign his own state, her institutions, and misrepresent the sentiment of her people. To say that such a course is deeply resented by the people of this state is stating the facts mildly. But there will come a day of reckoning. The people will have something to say who will succeed the senator who so deeply resents the will not secure a re-election by firing a legislature in a long deadlock.

Portsmouth Curfew

Lancaster Democrat: Portsmouth has added a notable exception to the rule and girls under 16 will have to hike for home when the bell rings at 9 o'clock. Portsmouth might improve the law still further by an amendment making the age limit 10 instead of 16.

Glaring Auto Light

Lawrence American: Several cities, among them Bridgeport and Chicago, have begun a crusade against the use of blinding automobile lights. The city limits, and a custom which has come to be a great nuisance, is a considerable peril to pedestrians. Hence it seems that the suitable means to abate the nuisance has not been found. The blinding of pedestrians when crossing the streets is familiar to all, and even the automobile itself complains that they suffer in the same manner when passing a car going in the opposite direction.

HUB'S 283RD BIRTHDAY

Big Celebration in Boston Tomorrow

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—All preparations for the official celebration of Boston's 283d birthday, which is to be observed in Faneuil hall tomorrow evening, have been completed. The indications are that the affair, which it is expected will be marked by the presence of many of the city's foremost citizens, will be an exceedingly interesting one.

Faneuil hall will be decorated with potted plants from the city's greenhouse, and an orchestra has been secured. All of the various city's department heads will have places on the platform.

Mayor Fitzgerald will deliver an address. Just what the mayor proposes to say after he gets through with a brief historical sketch of the city is not known, but the feeling is that he is apt to say a few peppery things that will make his hearers "sit up," a bit.

CONFESS MANY BREAKS

Boy Burglars Amaze Gloucester Police

GLoucester, Sept. 16.—The police were amazed at the magnitude of breaks confessed to yesterday by two boys, both under 16 years of age. William Silva, 15 years old, and Seraphine Viator, 14 years old, were arrested charged with breaking and entering several local stores. With seeming indifference the boys confessed to having made four breaks.

Silva, it is said, was last week indicted in Lawrence and held for a grand jury on a charge of breaking and entering. Viator is a small boy and weighs but 97 pounds.

Through the arrest of the two the police believe they will clear up a number of breaks that they have been conducted almost nightly during the past month. Inspector Sullivan and Patrolman Bickford believe that within a few days they have unearthed the hiding place in which the boys have secreted their stealings.

The boys have confessed to having broken into a candy store, a bakery, a fish house and a millinery establishment. Many other breaks will be confessed by the boys when they are arraigned in court today, the police believe.

FIND BODY IN RESERVOIR

Marks on Girl's Throat and Eyes

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The finding of a young woman's body floating face upwards in the Tufts college reservoir by three students yesterday afternoon leads the Medford police to believe that the woman may have been the victim of foul play.

The body had apparently been lying in the water about two weeks. There were marks of violence on the throat and both the woman's eyes were blackened. The young woman's clothing was torn as if the victim had been in a struggle.

The body, which was clothed in fashionable mourning dress, is lying unidentified at Beal's undertaking rooms in Medford square. The Medford police are searching the city to see if any young woman is missing, but up to a late hour last night none had been reported. On the woman's right hand was a signet ring with the initials "E" engraved upon it. The woman also wore an engagement ring on her left hand. No other identification marks appeared on the body or clothing. She was about 25 years old.

Girl Was Drowned
Medical Examiner Thomas Durell of Somerville, who viewed the body late yesterday, declared that he would not use any statement as to how the woman met her death until he had performed an autopsy today. "The girl, however, did meet death by drowning," said Dr. Durell, "but I cannot say that she was the victim of violence. That will be brought out at the autopsy."

Carl Lincol, Frederick N. Weaver and Cyrus Perkins, the three Tufts college students who saw the body in the water as they glanced from a dormitory window, notified Dean Frank G. Wren, who telephoned the Medford police.

The Tufts college reservoir, which is used only in case of fire by the school authorities, has had a death victim by drowning every two or three years. It is expected that because of the numerous drownings the reservoir will be inclosed with an iron railing within a short time.

Act on Copeland's Death
BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The Massachusetts State House Press association met yesterday afternoon to take action upon the death of the late Charles H. Copeland of the State House news service. President R. L. Bridgman presided.

It was voted that a committee be appointed to represent the association at the funeral this afternoon in St. Auburn chapel, Cambridge.

FRANCE AND SPAIN

Are So Situated Geographically as to Permit Close Collaboration, Says Minister Pichon

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The French Review, a publication devoted to Franco-Spanish interests, today publishes an article by Foreign Minister Stephen Pichon, recalling association of the two countries, which he says are so situated geographically as to permit close collaboration.

"It was only when France and Spain disregarded this historical fact," the article adds, "that clouds came between them."

M. Pichon appeals especially for close collaboration in Africa, where, he says, "the task undertaken by the two countries will progress surely and rapidly according as the collaboration is more intimate."

In view of President Poincare's approaching voyage to Spain, it is believed that the article has particular significance as foreshadowing the entrance of Spain into the Triple Entente.

CRIMINALLY RESPONSIBLE

Coroner Blames Trainmen for Fatal Wreck

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 16—

Three employees of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad are held by Coroner Eli Mix to be criminally responsible for the disastrous wreck at North Haven on September 2, when the White Mountain express plunged through the second section of the standing Bar Harbor express, exacting a toll of 31 lives. The coroner's finding was filed yesterday with the clerk of the superior court, after he had conducted a "private" inquest for a number of days.

Those held to be responsible are Augustus B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain express and Bruce C. Adams and Charles H. Murray, conductor and tagmen respectively of the Bar Harbor train.

The coroner neither blames nor absolves the New Haven road for the wreck. He finds the signals were in perfect working order "and whether the banjo signals are obsolete or not" the accident would have been prevented if the company's rules had not been violated. He touches upon the question of steel coaches and an improved signal system only incidentally, saying that these matters are not within his jurisdiction but within the scope of the state-public utilities commission. He directs the commission to investigate at once the "system of discipline" on the road and declares the number of violations of rules by employees "makes a sorry record."

No Change in Age Limit
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 16.—The sovereign grand lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows in annual convention here, postponed indefinitely action on a resolution changing the age limit for admission to the order from 21 to 15 years, at a late session last night. The question is now settled so far as this year's convention is concerned.

Judge Pickman Finds
Death Was Not Due to Criminal Negligence

According to the finding on the inquest of Robert Marston, alias Robert Head, who met his death in Chelmsford Sept. 2, by being struck by an automobile owned and operated by Crispin George Armstrong, held before Judge John J. Pickman recently, defendant was found "not criminally negligent." The finding, in part, reads as follows:

Before all of the evidence before me I am not clear in my mind that a warning signal was given by the operator of the automobile from the time that he passed over the crossing to the time when the boy was struck. The operator of the automobile testified that he did not see any person or persons standing or walking upon the road or by the side of the road until he came within a few feet of the boy who was struck. A younger brother of the boy who was struck by the automobile was walking at some distance north of the place where the accident occurred, and seeing his brother running toward the truck, apparently unconscious of the automobile that was coming down the road toward him, he called out to his brother to warn him to get out of the way of the automobile, but, by reason of the noise of the truck, or other reasons, his brother did not appear to hear him. The operator of the automobile had a license to run it and from an experience of ten or twelve years, was familiar with the running of automobiles.

I find that the operator of the automobile was not running the same a reckless or unusual rate of speed at the time the accident occurred or shortly prior thereto. I find that the operator of the automobile did not give a warning signal with his horn or other device to pedestrians upon the highway prior to the accident, but in connection therewith I find that said operator did not see the boy or other pedestrians on the highway in season to give a timely warning, nor do I find upon all the evidence that his failure to see the boy in season to give the warning that ought otherwise to have been given was due to the inattention or carelessness of the operator.

In conclusion: I find that on Tuesday, the second day of September current, that Robert Marston, otherwise called Robert Head, of the age of 15 years, while upon a highway in that part of town of Chelmsford, was struck by an automobile that was owned and operated by Crispin George Armstrong, of said Chelmsford and thereby sustained injuries from the effects of which he soon afterwards died.

I further find that the injuries that resulted in the death were not caused by the criminal negligence of said Crispin George Armstrong, who was operating said automobile.

(Signed) John J. Pickman,
Special Justice of the Police Court of Lowell, and Acting.

Thomas Sheehan petitioned for compensation for damages to his property in the case of the water main in the city of Lowell, which was destroyed by the bursting of the water main near there last January. Mr. Durand presented samples of the cards, similar to those which were damaged. He had one witness, a man who roomed in the building, and who said that he saw them taking the sand out of Mr. Durand's collar.

Catherine Wholley, through her attorney, James H. Carmichael sought compensation for damages on account of injuries received by her in a fall on the Mammoth road sidewalk.

Thomas Sheehan petitioned for compensation for injuries received while in the employ of the water department and Thomas Muldoon filed a similar petition.

The New England Road Machinery company requested payment of a bill of $345.02 against the street department incurred during 1911.

The Lowell Trust company claimed compensation for damages received because of the bursting of the water pipe at Toward's corner on January 22. All the above were referred to the law department.

Barrett Reads Letter
During the hearing His Honor asked for a motion to adjourn to 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, this having been requested by Commissioner Cummings, who could not be present this morning.

Before adjournment Mr. Barrett requested permission to read a letter which he had received from A. E. Shaw, M. D., in which the latter stated that he had recently been misquoted by one of the local papers. Dr. Shaw said that a reporter had questioned him regarding a typhoid case which he was attending and asked if it had been caused by the city water. The

NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE OVER THE RICHARDSON BROOK IN DRACUT

Merrimack avenue in Dracut, constituting the missing link in the great state highway scheme from New Hampshire to the sea, is nearing completion and if you are looking for a real happy man just drop in on James J. McManmon, the Prescott street florist. Mr. McManmon has worked for years on this proposition to have the missing link supplied in the state highway plan and in front of his own premises, in Dracut, he is witnessing the completion of one of his very important parts, the building of a concrete bridge over Richardson's brook. The bridge is 60 feet long, 12 feet high and 12 feet wide.

It was stated today that the bridge would be completed by the middle of October and the street railway tracks which were moved to the highway when the job was begun have been replaced and cars are crossing over the new bridge that is still under process of construction. The tracks over the bridge are supported by extra timbers that will be taken away as soon as the concrete is in shape to admit of the gravel filling.

The bridge, when completed, will be minus timbers and it might be said in passing that it will be in keeping with the rest of the work connected with the state highway in that section, which is said to be perfect. The work is being done by Contractor Wagonbach of Lawrence and is being supervised by Engineer Coburn.

Exceptional cars have been taken in the layout of the road and every modern method in the road building line has been brought into practice. The road is gutterless and the water will be carried by pipes to the river. The work has been hampered more or less by contention with springs that insisted upon bobbing up every few rods. This difficulty, however, has been overcome and the missing link is fast nearing completion.

"Everybody in Dracut will appreciate this new road, in time," said James J. McManmon today, "because it will mean a big increase in valuation. Things are booming out this way, and if you don't believe it just try to hit a house. There are not half enough houses here now to supply the demand and the new road is responsible for the boom."

BODY BURNED TO CRISP

Man Perished in Stable
Fire—12 Horses Lost

TAUNTON, Sept. 15.—One man was burned to death, five others had narrow escapes and 12 valuable horses were lost in a fire which destroyed the livery stable of Fred H. Galloway, causing a loss of $25,000.

A party of six men, in a room on the Whittenton street, here last night, second story of the building, were aroused by a burst of flame from below and all but one escaped safely. The dead man is thought to be William Smith, 35 years, married, of this city, although positive identification had not been made last night. The body was burned practically to a crisp.

The cause of the fire is not known. Starting in the rear of the lower floor of the stable it spread rapidly and caused great alarm among the residents of a thickly settled tenement district. About 20 carriages, an automobile, harnesses and several tons of hay were licked up by the flames.

Lowell Opera House
If you want to have a good laugh do not fail to see "The Feudists" at the Opera House. It is a Vitaphone comedy in two reels and contains John Bunny, Sidney Drew and all the favorites of that famous film company. The many situations are peculiar and laughable and contain everything that a fun loving audience seeks. Another feature of special mention is "The Christian," a Russian drama of startling worth, and which tells a most beautiful story. Owing to a severe cold Lowell's favorite baritone, Bernard Horen, was obliged to close after last night's performance and beginning with the matinee today, Miss Lillian Shunney, the well known soprano will be heard in all new songs. Don't forget the prices 5 cents for children and 10 cents for adults.

The Lawrence Dental club held a regular meeting at the Franklin house, Lawrence, Monday evening with the president, Dr. Charles W. Partridge, in the chair. After the transaction of the regular business the members present listened to an interesting and instructive paper on "Free Public School Clinics" by Dr. Hugh Walker of this city, who was the special guest of the evening. A brief discussion followed the reading of the paper. Supper was served. Those present were Dr. Charles W. Partridge, Dr. Charles A. Frank, Dr. Frederick W. Schaeke, Dr. T. M. Fleming, Dr. Robert Farquhar, Dr. John N. Thomson and Dr. N. E. Young.

TELLS OF MEXICO

valuing feeling that this country may resort to armed intervention or eventually make war on Mexico for the purpose of annexing it to the United States. Then there is a feeling of enmity coming down from the old Mexican war and the loss of Texas, all of which combine to arouse the ire of the populace against Americans.

"Are Americans in Mexico in any danger as a result of this unfriendly feeling?"

"Not exactly in danger in times of peace; but if another rebellion should break out, they would undoubtedly be the first objects of the fury of the populace."

"At present Americans traveling through Mexico can notice the unfriendly tone of the people, sometimes taking the form of public demonstrations."

"What effect did President Wilson's message have upon the people of Mexico?"

"It greatly intensified the feeling against Americans among the supporters of the Huerta government."

"What proportion of the Mexican people support Huerta?"

"It would be difficult to say, although so far as a stranger can judge there is a decided majority in favor of the Huerta regime. You will understand that it is difficult to get an accurate expression of public opinion in Mexico. If the men are at heart opposed to the government, they are not likely to say so if they value their lives unless they are in the camp of the rebels under Carranza."

"What do the rebels hope to accomplish?"

"The overthrow of Huerta or a cessation of hostilities that will give them a share of the spoils."

"What will the rebels do in case of an election?"

"Carranza, the leader, has promised to be a candidate and to accept the decision of the people if he gets a guarantee of safety in visiting Mexican cities."

"Who will be the government candidates?"

"In all probability either Huerta or Felix Diaz. According to the constitution of Mexico Huerta must resign if he becomes a candidate for election. Huerta and Diaz are friends, but would either retire in favor of the other?"

"I don't think so. Diaz is now in Japan but he has promised to be home in time for the coming election and he will be a candidate. A great many Diaz clubs have been formed all over the country."

"Does Diaz get much of his prestige from his being a relative of former President Diaz?"

"It would be difficult to say how much of his political strength comes to him in this way. It is a fact, however, that the supporters of the former president have largely gone out of politics finding that the safer course."

"Will the election express the will of the people?"

"By no means. Under the conditions, with so many rival factions and so many illiterate people there can be no popular election in the American sense."

"Do the people approve of the killing of Madero and his friends?"

"It is largely immaterial whether they do or not as they cannot safely express their disapproval."

"Speaking of the conflict by which the Madero government was overthrown, Mr. Guerra said the scenes portrayed showing the dead photographed about the streets, heaps of dead bodies being cremated in an open field and soldiers shooting men condemned to death standing with rifles pointed at the dying ready to fire a fresh volley wherever there appeared the sign of life. It was by these methods that the present regime attained power."

"How is business in Mexico?"

"Practically paralyzed all over the country. The Mexican currency has so depreciated that a dollar is worth but 32 cents at the present time."

"The rebels under Carranza have issued a currency of their own but while they are using it as a medium of exchange it is of no value outside the limits of their control."

"Do you expect peace after the coming election in Mexico?"

"Conditions may improve after the new government is recognized by the powers; but I do not expect any lasting peace."

"Is it true that Mexico has a most friendly feeling for Japan?"

"It is undoubtedly true and this was well demonstrated on the arrival of the Japanese ambassador in Mexico city. The people turned out in his honor, carrying Japanese flags and shouting 'Long live Japan!'"

"Was there any foundation for the assumption that Japan was trying to get a foothold in Southern California?"

"I could not say; but judging from the friendly feeling for the Japs, I may say I doubt that in case of trouble between Mexico and this country the Mexicans would appeal to Japan for assistance and in lieu thereof would make any concession in her power."

"How many countries of the south have you been through?"

"I have recently made a tour of Cuba and must say that the progress made there is wonderful."

"I have also traveled in Brazil, the West Indies and Central America."

"At Caracas in the West Indies I met negroes who can speak five languages learned on the docks from the sailors arriving there. Spanish is the prevailing language in most of the South American countries but in Brazil and the West Indies there is a sort of mixture of English, Dutch and Spanish which is bewildering to one who does not understand these languages."

"Does your country do much business with the So. American republics?"

"It is really surprising how widely the products of the J. C. Ayer factory are known in these countries and everywhere they go they advertise the city of Lowell."

"Mr. Guerra lives in New York and will soon start on another trip to Central America."

interesting. The pictures are all new and are taken from topics of the day. The same bill will be presented twice daily during the remainder of the week.

Merrimack Square Theatre
"The Fastest Way" is the production which has been selected for this week to entertain the numerous patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre and it is presented in a delightful manner by the Merrimack Square Players.

The play is one, known to everybody, and it will be remembered as doing created a sensation throughout the country when it was first staged. The piece was at one time barred in Boston when the Hub authorities condemned it from a moral standpoint. Last year Mr. Weston's Drama Players presented the play at The Playhouse with tremendous success for an entire week.

Judging from the audiences of yesterday "The Fastest Way" is bound to make a big hit at the Merrimack Square throughout this week. It must have been admitted that from a strictly moral viewpoint, the play is far from being a standard by which to measure and direct one's life. It tells the story of the life of a girl and her relations with a wealthy New York broker, her real love affair with a younger man, as "Laura Murdoch" the unfortunate girl, Miss Rosalie DeVaux has a fine opportunity of displaying her real histrionic powers and she does so with the effect of drawing rounds of hearty applause and appreciation from her large audience.

Walter S. Weeks is seen as "John Madison" the young newspaperman who falls in love with Laura. Miss Grace Sinclair and does wonderfully well. The entire cast, which includes six members this week, Mr. Jack Hayden, Miss Marie Reels and Mr. John Charles in addition to those mentioned before is seen to advantage.

There are some excellent moving pictures between the acts.

The Kasino
The Kasino management announces the engagement of Miner's orchestra, beginning tonight. This orchestra is one of the best for dancing in the entire state, and Kasino patrons will undoubtedly show their appreciation of the free concerts that are to be given every night and on Saturday afternoon. The Kasino is after only the best.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
B. F. Keith's Theatre
The management of Keith's theatre has succeeded in arranging for this week's presentation a bill that is sure to please the Lowell theatregoers. The show lasts two hours and is full of music and comedy with just enough other vaudeville to satisfy all. There were large audiences at both performances yesterday and they showed their appreciation of the numbers by generous applause at the end of each act.

"The Tourists" presented by Al White and Lew Orth was the feature of the attractive bill. There are six characters in this act which is a mixture of singing and dancing with plenty of comedy showing up throughout the half-hour that the merry-makers are on the stage.

The five Tyrolean troubadours, Venetian singers and dancers, entertain for about 20 minutes and from the time that they make their appearance on the stage until the curtain is drawn the audience is treated to a fine musical program. Four women and two men appear in this act and their costumes are very attractive.

Don Pivano, billed as "The horse with a human brain" mystifies the audience by his remarkable tricks and also proves that he is very clever in mathematics. He is able to add and to count as well as the ordinary schoolboy of today and can catch a number spoken in any part of the theatre.

Rev. Cummings and Helen Gladwin entertain very acceptably with their singing and dancing and the music that accompanies their act is also good. Their midnight revelers' number is a feature of their act.

Efficiency Timpert, a singing comedienne, is sure of securing a good hand during her stay at this theatre. Her singing and dancing is decidedly out of the ordinary.

The two sensational comedians present an act that is full of thrilling stunts and one that keeps the audience interested every minute. Some fine balancing is shown by both, a feature of which is the comedy stunt. As a caricature, Chalk Saunders has few equals and his drawing is responsible for many a laugh. This act is sure to be liked.

The Pathe weekly is good this week and is very instructive as well as in-

HOLE IN MAN'S SKULL
BODY WAS FOUND IN A CLUMP OF BUSHES IN A NEW YORK SUBURB—SLUNG SHOT PICKED UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A gold watch, a silk handkerchief and clothing that had been of the finest quality but was rotted by long exposure to the weather, gave the police today little clue to the identity of the man whose body was found yesterday in a clump of bushes near the New York Central railroad tracks at Hastings-on-Hudson, a New York suburb. A note in the man's skull and an improvised slung-shot lying near the body left little doubt that he was murdered. The body was that of a man probably five feet four inches tall and the hair was of light color. The police went there to find the woman whose behavior near the scene led to the discovery of the body. A path worn through the tall grass from the street to the thicket where the victim lay indicated that some one or more had frequent visits to the spot before the man was killed a month or more ago.

Close by the body the police picked up a woman's tan kid glove, new and unsoiled and a slung-shot made from the silk lining torn from a coat sleeve and filled with stones.
